PARTIES IN GERMANY.

The Social Democrats Have Not Made the Gains With Which They Were Credited.

BERLIN, June 26.—Corrected returns from the constituencies in which second ballots were taken on Saturday show that the Social Democrats have not gained so many seats as were claimed for them on Saturday night and Sunday morning. From West Havelland, Hamburg and Rudolstadt, false reports were sent in to the effect that the seats had been lost by the National Liberal candidates, although to-day's returns show that the latter carried all three constituencies by good majorities. At 10 o'clock this morning the number of Social Democrats known to have been elected on and since June 15 is but 44. The gains of the National Liberals in the second ballots have been especially notable. The Government parties generally have held well together, and have secured more seats in the second ballots than they were thought to have any chance of obtaining. Early this evening all the constituencies heard from numbered 373, their deputies are classified as follows: Clericals, 77; Social-Democrats, 44; Alsatians, 12; Conservatives, 74; Free Conservatives, 23; National Liberals, 47; Poles, 19; Anti-Semetics, 16; Richterist's Radicals, 19; Independent Clericals, 11; Radicals, 11; Radical Unionists, 11; Guelphs, 6; Bavarian Peasants' League, 2; South German Democrats, 11; Danes, 1.

It is estimated that on the first ballot there were some 360,000 votes for the bill and 380,000 against it. The total vote polled was 172,000 larger than in 1890.

Proposed Recall of Chinese Minister.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—China advices by the steamship China say that at a recent conference of the council to discuss the Geary act, Prince Ching and two other members of the Yamen proposed recalling the Chinese minister at Washington in the event of the United States enforcing the act. The statement was also made that it was at one time intended that the departure of H. E. Yang Yu for the States should be delayed until something be done to repeal the obnoxious clauses of the act. The instructions to the minister at Washington were that he should return to China on the expiration of his term without waiting for his successor.

THE VICTORIA DISASTER.

How the Collision Happened—The Vessels Were Changing to Single Column.

The Men Stood to Their Posts Until Ordered to Save Themselves.

Admiral Tryon's Rare Heroism—Heavy Explosions after the Vessel Turned Over.

LONDON, June 26.—The United Press correspondent sends from Beyrout an account of the sinking of the warship Victoria by the warship Camperdown, off Tripoli, on Thursday last. Admiral Tryon, he says, visited Beyrout last week, with the squadron of sixteen vessels, and he and his officers were entertained by the Anglo-American residents. The whole foreign colony was en fete. The guests were entertained at banquets, balls and receptions. The final reception was given at the house of an English physician, on Wednesday evening. The farewells were said shortly before midnight, and at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning the fleet sailed away for the manœuvres, off Tripoli. The weather was sunny; there was no breeze; the sea was smooth as a mirror. The vessels had been drawn up in double line. Abreast they were about six cable lengths apart. The bow of each vessel was two cable lengths from the stern of the vessel ahead. At about 3 o'clock the fleet was thus approaching Tripoli. Admiral Tryon signalled the order for single file. At the time the order was given the Victoria and Camperdown were almost exactly abreast, both slowly turning inward with a sweeping movement and their bows converged. The Victoria was slightly ahead as they approached. The Camperdown pushed heavily upon her and rammed her on the starboard side of the bow. She tore with tremendous force through the Victoria's hull and drove the ram through to the Victoria's middle. It was just 3:30 o'clock when, with the great rip in her hull, the Victoria began to founder.

Admiral Tryon tried at first to run her ashore, but the distance, nearly five miles, was too great. The great vessel turned over broadside, and eight minutes after she was struck went down. Rigid discipline was maintained. The invalids and prisoners were brought on deck, and provision was hastily made for their safety in case of the worst. The crew remained at their posts. When five minutes were up Admiral Tryon apparently realized that his vessel was doomed beyond all hope of safety. He then gave the order, "Let every man save himself." Many of the men rushed from their posts and jumped into the sea. Others were hurrying from below to follow them when the end came. The bow disappeared gradually at first, then rapidly plunged so that the hull stood almost perpendicular in the water, and paused motionless for a moment, and finally rolled completely over. Two tremendous explosions were heard, and then the Victoria settled under. Admiral Tryon did not leave the ship. He was the last man seen as she first plunged her bows under water. He stood on the bridge as long as it was possible to stand anywhere on the deck. His body has not been found. Two hundred and ninety of the officers and crew were saved. Many were severely injured by the concussion of the two vessels.

The Camperdown has a sixteen foot hole in her bow. She made a deal of water, and was only kept afloat by the closing of her water tight compartments and by pumping. The fleet lies at anchor before Tripoli, while the Camperdown is making temporary repairs, which will enable her to reach Malta. The Victoria lies in 76 fathoms of water. It will be impossible to float her. The bodies of twenty victims have been found and buried in Tripoli. The Victoria had a band of Italian musicians on board. English Consul Trotter and Sir George Wellesley were to have been the guests of Admiral Tryon on the voyage to Tripoli, but the captain of the warship Edinburgh, who was an old friend of theirs, persuaded them not to accept his hospitality and they thus escaped the disaster. The memorial service for the lost sailors was held in the Anglo-American church in Beyrout yesterday. The church was draped in black. A dispatch from Port Said says it is learned that Rear Admiral Markham's dispatches regarding the loss of the Victoria have been sent by mail to the Admiralty. The cruiser Barham which, it was thought, would carry the dispatches, has arrived at Port Said.

The officers of the vessel confirm the story already told, but they can give no explanation as to the cause of the collision. They state that Admiral Tryon's order was sixteen points to starboard for one division, and the same to port for the other division. This gridiron movement, as it is called, is defended in naval circles as teaching commanders how to handle their ships, and enabling the admiral of the fleet to bring the flagship readily free to windward, or vice versa, in order to bear the brunt of an action or to obtain the best position to control a squadron.

The officers of the Barham say that even after the men of the Victoria were ordered to save themselves, they persisted in their gallant attempt to fix the collision mat in position. This usually occupies ten minutes. Admiral Tryon's signal for assistance was promptly obeyed, every vessel immediately sending boats to the rescue, but the suction caused by the sinking vessel dragged down the strongest of the swimmers. The great fatality was due to the fact that when the vessel went down the propellers were still revolving rapidly. As the ship sank many of the sailors were observed crawling up the sides of the hull to the keel. All agreed that Admiral Tryon showed rare heroism.

After he had ordered all to save themselves, the coxswain ran up to him with a life belt. Tryon refused to take it and told the man to see to his own safety. He stood on the bridge, motionless and with folded arms, awaiting sure death. Without exception the officers and crew behaved nobly. The explosions after the Victoria turned over are supposed to have been the bursting of her boilers. Besides those already mentioned in the Admiralty dispatches, the list of drowned includes: Lieut. Munroe, sub-Lieut. Gillett, Engineers Harding, Foreman, Deadman and Hatherley, Gunner Howell, Boatswain Barnard and Carpenter Bell. The officers of the Barham say that the warship Nile narrowly missed striking the Victoria on the port side, just as she had been rammed by the Camperdown. The Admiralty think the collision was due to the momentary failure of the Victoria's steering gear. Nothing has been published here to censure anybody in connection with the disaster. The Lord Mayor's fund for the relief of the needy families who lost members by the disaster amounts to £6,000.

Questions were asked in the House of Commons to-day, regarding the foundering of the Victoria. Replying to these questions Rt. Hon. Sir U. Kay-Shuttleworth, secretary to the Admiralty, said there was reason to hope, from telegrams received from the British Consul-General at Tripoli, Mr. N. T. Moore, that the number of persons drowned by the sinking of the ship would be under the estimate at first made. Some of the men belonging to the Victoria had been detached temporarily from that vessel and detailed for duty on other vessels of the fleet during the manœuvres. These men had of course escaped. So far as ascertained the lost numbered 360, comprising 22 officers and 338 men. The saved number, 287, including 26 officers and 261 men.

Mr. F. W. Isaacson asked if the Government intended to keep the Sansparcel, the sister ship of the Victoria, in commission, or to have her ordered home from the Mediterranean in order to have experts consider her construction and, if possible, ascertain what, if anything, was faulty in it.

The Secretary to the Admiralty deprecated the asking of such questions, saying that the time had not come when they ought to be asked.

This statement was greeted with cries of "hear, hear."

The Queen's despatch in reply to that of Ambassador Bayard, expressing President Cleveland's sympathy on the foundering of the warship Victoria was as follows: "I thank you most sincerely for the kind message you conveyed from President Cleveland on the occasion of the terrible catastrophe in the Mediterranean, the loss of the Victoria and so many brave officers and men, including a distinguished admiral. I assure you that I am much touched and most grateful for his sympathy."

Crowds of people remained Saturday night before the admiralty office, in the hope of getting some definite information in regard to the fate of relatives on board of the ill fated battleship. A list of those saved was posted on the bulletin boards in front of the office. When the list was read to the crowd, many touching scenes resulted. Some, overwrought by the strain of anxiety, fainted with joy when the name of a loved one was mentioned among the saved. Others, overcome with grief when the list was completed and missing ones' names were not mentioned, swooned and fell to the ground. Hundreds came in from the provinces to get earlier news.

A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, from Malta, states that the Victoria was cut in two abaft the barbette. Most of those who lost their lives were drowned by being drawn under water by the suction caused by the sinking ship. Vice-Admiral Sir George Tryon was picked up shortly after the foundering of his flagship and was carried on board the battleship Edinburgh, where he died shortly afterward. The dispatch vessel Surprise is expected to arrive at Malta to-morrow with the body of Admiral Tryon. The remainder of the fleet is due to arrive at Malta on Monday.

Rear Admiral Albert H. Markham, who, since the death of Vice Admiral Tryon, is in command of the British Mediterranean squadron, has telegraphed the admiralty that the damage sustained by the Camperdown proves, upon examination, to be less than was expected. He adds that, though the vessel was seriously damaged, he hopes she will be ready to proceed to Malta in a few days, where she will go on the dock for repairs.

Lumber Cargo From Vancouver.

MONTREAL, June 26.—The barque Highland's, Capt. Owen, of St. John, N. B., is in port from Vancouver, B. C., her cargo consisting of 697,000 feet of Oregon pine and 200,000 feet of cedar. The vessel left Vancouver on January 21, and rounded Cape Horn the middle of April. The ships second mate was washed overboard during a hurricane. The cargo is consigned to J. B. Briere of this city.

Clerical Scandal Cleared Up.

MONCTON, June 26.—The New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Methodist conference yesterday considered the appeal of Rev. Mr. Crisp, upon whom an attempt was made to fasten guilt for the offences of which Rev. Mr. Currie was expelled from the ministry some years ago. A special committee, by a vote of four to two, exonerated Mr. Crisp. It is probably the end of one of the most celebrated clerical scandals in maritime Methodism.

Woman in Methodist Conference.

HALIFAX, June 26 —For the first time in the history of American Methodism, as far as known, a woman has been admitted to membership in a conference, the Nova Scotian conference, in session at Canso, having decided that Mary Dauphine has a legal right to be on a footing of perfect equality with the male members in that body, and she will take her seat. Three years ago the application of Frances E. Willard for similar membership in a United States conference was refused.

U. S. Four Per Cents.

NEW YORK, June 26.—In accordance with the orders issued by Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle, the payment of interest on the four per cent. bonds, which falls due on July 1st, was begun to-day at the subtreasury. A large number of the cheques were mailed from the sub-treasury on Saturday night. This was done in order that the holders of the bonds in the Western States might receive their money about the same time as those in the Eastern States.

Premier Davie at Ottawa—Hudson's Bay Railway Bonds Not Yet On the Market.

Mainland Petitions for Separation—Tea Boxes For Ceylon of B. C. Fir.

(From our own Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, June 26.—Arrangements are being made for Sir John Thompson to visit the different constituencies in Ontario during August and September. The Premier never visited some of the counties in this Province, and there is a great desire on the part of many Conservatives to hear him speak. Sir John accordingly consented to address a number of meetings.

C. H. MacIntosh returned from England to-day. Judging from all he could hear in Paris, the outlook for the Canadian case before the Behring Sea arbitration is good In the matter of regulations to be applied to sealing in Behring Sea, it is anticipated there will be considerable difference of opinion among the arbitrators. Mr. MacIntosh denies emphatically the Montreal Herald, report that he stated everything was settled with regard to his appointment as Lieut.-Governor of the Territories. Mr. Mackintosh states that the report of the Herald was made out of whole cloth.

So far as the filling of the Governorship of Manitoba and the Territories is concerned, no action will be taken by Government until the First Minister returns from Europe.

Prof. Boradine, of the University of St. Petersburg, Russia, is here obtaining information regarding fish culture in Canada, with a view to introducing better methods in Russia.

The Exchequer court sat to-day, Justice Burbridge presiding. In the famous trade mark case of De Kuyper vs. Van Dulkef, both gin makers, the judge granted an order to re-open the hearing and permitting evidence to be taken under commission in Holland.

In the suit for damages, Carter vs. Hamilton, for alleged intringement of patent respecting a "Black leaf check book" for salesmen's use, the judge ruled that the patent failed for lack of novelty.

Hugh Sutherland has arrived from England. He says the condition of the money market is such as to render it inadvisable to put the Hudsen Bay Railway bonds on the market, although he anticipates a successful issue eventually.

Hon. Theodore Davie arrived from Toronto this morning, and will see the ministers on judicial matters affecting British Columbia, also upon quarantine.

Handsome rewards will be presented to the officers and men of the British steamer Sandfield and the German steamer Guthiel for rescuing shipwrecked Canadian sailors.

J. A. Spence, representing the Duckwire Tea Co., of Ceylon, to-day arranged with a local agent for a trial shipment of "shooks," manufactured from Douglas fir, for the construction of tea boxes for the Ceylon trade. Up to the present boxes have been procured from Japan. The Mikado's Government having prohibited their exportation the Cingalese tea planters have been obliged to look elsewhere. Mr. Spence believes that British Columbia can furnish several million tea chests a year.

Mr. Trudeau, late deputy minister of railways and canals, was taken down to-day with inflammation. The doctor says to-night that he cannot recover.

Petitions for the separation of the Mainland and Vancouver Island and creating a separate province, have been received by the Governor-General and sent to the Department of Justice. In due course they will be referred to the Lieut.-Governor of British Columbia for a reply from his advisors.

BANK SUSPENSION.

The First National Bank of Port Angeles Forced to Temporarily Close Its Doors.

PORT ANGELES, June 26.—The First National bank of this city suspended shortly after opening its doors this morning. The suspension was caused by the sudden withdrawal of deposits by three or four large depositors checking out their money as soon as the bank opened its doors. The officers of the bank saw that the currency on hand would not hold out, and decided to suspend temporarily till funds could be secured. The assets of the bank are $142,000, liabilities $85,000. There are due depositors $82,000. The bank has been continued on very conservative lines, and, excepting the lack of ready money in hand, is in excellent shape. The suspension caused no excitement, and confidence in an early resumption is expressed by all parties. The suspension will only cause temporary embarrassment to a few.

HONOLULU ADVICES.

Spreckels Enters a Libel Suit—Fourth of July Celebration—Rumored Royalist Plot.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—The steamer China, from Hong Kong, May 30th, and Yokohama, June 9th, arrived this morning with the following advices from Honolulu, dated June 19th.

The libel suit brought by Spreckels against W. G. Smith, editor of the Annexation organ, will be tried at the June term of the Supreme Court. The action was brought because of an allegorical reference that no man is rich enough to safely engage in seditious enterprises against a government which has power to seize his person and property.

Mr. Blount returned on June 11 from his five days' trip to Maui He visited the crater and the principal plantations. A royalist meeting was got up for the benfit of Mr. Blount.

Charles Nordhoff returns home on the 21st. The annexation party regard him with suspicion and are distrustful, but Mr. Blount seems to encourage him.

The Government is well advised of a royalist plot to fire the town and dynamite the waterworks and in the confusion seize the Government buildings. Efficient measures have been taken to frustrate any such attempt.

A meeting of American citizens in Honolulu to arrange for the usual Fourth of July celebration was held at the Arlington house on the evening of the 17th. An extensive programme will be adopted. The meeting was called by the United States minister, who was, however, too busy to attend in person.

The latest advices from Washington are generally felt in Honolulu to be unfavorable to an early settlement by annexation. The Royalists are jubilant. Thoughtful ones see this is the only means of causolidating the Government with a permanent form supported by the great body of taxpayers and property owners. A prominent Socialist intimates that there will soon be a general clamor for annexation among the natives, who will discover themselves left with little voice in the remodelled government. A special meeting of the cabinet was held at noon on June 19, continuing one hour and a half, at which Mr. Blount and his secretary were present.

MERCIER UNMASKED.

Quebec's Political Trickster Puts Forth a St. Jean Baptiste Day Manifesto.

English Aggressions Denounced and French Canadians and Catholics Warned to Be United.

MONTREAL, June 26.—The French-Canadians celebrated the anniversary of St. Jean Baptiste by a big procession yesterday. A large number of visitors from New England and other parts of the country took part in the demonstration. The streets in the French quarter were embellished with the tri-color, American flags and the maple leaf Canadian emblem. The procession was composed of the various sections of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, the Roman Catholic societies of the city, and delegations from all parts of the United States. Fifteen thousand people marched in the procession to Notre Dame church, where Archbishop Fabre celebrated high mass.

A most sensational feature of the anniversary, which was also the 250th anniversary of the founding of Montreal, is an address issued to the French-Canadians and all Roman Catholics, by Count Honore Mercier, ex-premier of the Province of Quebec. He refers in inflammatory language to the aggressions of the English majority in Canada, which he claims is violating treaties and laws with audacity. English tyranny is seen in Canada by (to use Mr. Mercier's words)

"The abolition of the French language, by exile and confiscation, by political scaffolds and the inhuman execution of young men whose crime has been to love their country too well; by the expulsion from Acadia of men, women and children; by laying waste our fields; by robbing and plundering our farmers—defenseless as they all were—and at last by the execution of Louis Riel. History tells us what British fair play, as understood by the fanatics of the nation, means; by the butchery of Joan of Arc, the noble heroine, burned alive at Rouen by the English; by the blowing from the cannon's mouth of prisoners of war in India; by England's refusal to grant Home Rule to Ireland; by her arbitrary laws, whereby Irish Catholics were obliged to pay tithes to Protestant ministers."

Mr. Mercier warns his compatriots that the only remedy against British oppression is the union of all French Canadians and all Catholics, and that if they do not combine to protect themselves, both their nationality and their religion will be done away with. The address is being widely circulated throughout the province, and is creating a great sensation, as it is thought it will make a breach between the English and French, in the Province of Quebec, wider than ever.

GERMANY'S TROUBLES.

Riotous Socialist Demonstrations—Smart Fighting Between the Mob and Police.

BERLIN, June 26.—The taking of the second ballots has been accompanied by riotous Socialist demonstrations in several cities. In Manheim, where a Social-Democrat was unseated by a National Liberal, the Social-Democrats tried to march in disorderly bodies through the streets. They ignored the orders of the police to disperse, and fired on the police with revolvers when the first attempt was made to enforce the orders. Mounted police, who were called out, eventually charged and scattered the mobs. Several policemen were shot, and many Socialists were trampled or cut. Numerous arrests have been made. In Schwetzingen, Weinhem and Neu Stettin similar encounters have taken place. Nobody has been killed, but many have been wounded and arrested in each of these cities.

Fatal Revolver Accident.

DENVER, June 26.—Col. Sam P. Rose was awakened by a noise at his residence early this morning, and thinking it came from burglars, took his revolver and started to investigate. When about half way down stairs the revolver was accidentally discharged, the ball passing through his abdomen and causing death before a physician could reach him. Col. Rose was one of the most prominent lawyers in the west. He came here from Memphis, Tenn., fifteen years ago, and served as a colonel in the Confederate army. He was a Democratic candidate for attorney general of Colorado in 1888. His family have been in Europe for several months and sailed for home from France last Wednesday. They are now on the ocean and will receive the news of the fatal accident when the steamer reaches New York.

WESTMINSTER.

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 26.—Hon. Justice McCreight has returned from a trip to the World's Fair and resumed his judicial duties to-day.

Dr. Powell, of Victoria, has sold his Belle Meade farm, in Surrey, to Moggridge Bros., lately from Wales, for $50,000. The farm consists of 320 acres, and is the best stocked in fruit in the province, having 40,000 plants, shrubs and trees set out Sixty-five acres alone are in the finest variety of prunes. The deal is considered a good one for both parties.

J. M. Cubbins, who tried to kill Thomas Rutter, at Langley, two weeks ago, will be tried under the Speedy Trials act on Friday.

Jesse Plante, who stabbed Garripe at the Richmond cannery last week, has pleaded guilty to an assault with intent to do grievous bodily harm, and was remanded by Judge Bole for sentence.

Wholesale arrests are to be made at Steveston to-morrow, arising out of the rescue of a drunken Indian from a constable.

W. S. Branchflower, of Chilliwack, who was summoned to answer a charge of refusing to support his wife, has skipped to the United States, and a bench warrant has been issued for his arrest.

The Provincial Revenue collector expects the receipts for the year ending June 30, to fall short of last year's by about $30,000, that amount being collected by the new municipalities.

NANAIMO.

NANAIMO, June 26—Major Hickey, of French creek, and Miss Reeves, of Dublin, were married yesterday afternoon in St. Alban's church, by the rector, Rev. G. H. Young.

The awarding of the contract for the resurvey of the city to the firm of Garden, Herman & Burwell, of Vancouver, whose tender was $300 in excess of that of Palmer & Corrigan, is causing no little comment in town, more particularly as the latter firm gave good security and good references.

The infantry corps marched out to Nanaimo river, Saturday afternoon, camped there for the night, and on Sunday morning attended St. Philip's church, returning in the afternoon. This first outing the corps has had having proved very successful, during the summer months it will be repeated from time to time.

The extra train put on between town and Wellington on Saturday and Sunday evenings has been well patronized. The innovation is a good one, and the action of the E. & N. Railway Co. is well appreciated here.

Members of local and district lodges of K. of P. and their friends, to the number of over four hundred, spent Sunday in Victoria, thoroughly enjoying the day's outing and the cordial reception tendered them by their Victoria brethren.

Dominion Day will be celebrated here by the Caledonians' annual picnic, particulars of which have already appeared in these columns. The Wellingtonans also make holiday on that occasion, and they have prepared a splendid programme of sports and pastimes, including foot-races, wrestling and swimming matches, a miners' tug-of-war and a football match between junior teams for eleven gold medals, presented by E. Merman, the local jeweler.

The steamer Bawnmore arrived yesterday, and the ship J. B. Brown and steamship Grandholm sailed for San Francisco.

Schooner Princess Louise arrived from the North this evening. She brings no news of importance, and leaves at midnight for Victoria.

DUNCAN.

DUNCAN, June 26.—The Somenos lodge, I.O.G.T., held a pleasant picnic in Mr. Joseph Drinkwater's field on Thursday last.

The closing exercises of the Duncan public school took place on Friday last; afterwards the scholars drove to Somenos and had an enjoyable picnic, with showery weather. The teacher of this school, Mr. Jas. E. Norcross, leaves here to take charge as principal of the publicschool at Northfield.

F. H. Price and Col. Holmes arrived up from Victoria, and H. Forrester down from Nanaimo, and Major Nutter, C. W. Dunn and Francis Craig journeyed down on Friday, the last named bound for Ottawa on a visit to the old home.

H. Moffat (Ind. Dept.), J. C. Prevost, Mrs. Prevost and N. P. Snowden were at Duncan on Saturday last, and Angus I. Bell and D. Alexander paid flying visits to the capital on the same day.

The adjourned Court of Revision (assessment) for the North Cowichan municipality, sat at the Agricultural hall on Saturday, the court consisting of Reeve W. Drinkwater, chairman, and Councillors E. Barkley, W. C. Duncan, W. Herd and T. A. Wood. The appeals left over were disposed of and afterwards the court resolved itself into a council and disposed of the ordinary monthly business.

Only a few logs of Hughitt & McIntyre's present drive have passed the railway bridge, there being a large jam at Latham. Owing to the rapid falling of the water in the Cowichan river it is probable the logs will remain "hung up" until the winter freshets.

P. F. Jaynes and A. McKinnon took train for Victoria this morning.

Haymaking of the early grasses is becoming general throughout the settlement, although the weather continues unsettled and the sky overcast.

CHEMAINUS.

CHEMAINUS, June 25.—Mr. Palmer is expected back from St. Paul next week.

Mrs. Jones and two children returned to Victoria on Wednesday, after visiting D. R. Pottinger. Mrs. Jones will leave for the World's Fair in about four weeks to join her husband, who is looking after the interests of California State.

Mrs. Conway and her daughter May left yesterday for Seattle; they expect to return Wednesday.

Miss Alexander, of Duncan, paid Miss Porter a visit yesterday.

Mrs. Roberts and her daughter, of Kuper Island, attended the public school examinations held here yesterday. They were highly delighted with the showing made by the pupils. Miss Roberts has successfully passed her examinations in Victoria High school. They left by train for Nanaimo last night.

Mrs. Wilson, of Oyster, visited Victoria this week and called upon friends at Saanich.

Messrs. Allan, Kirkendall and Ranburg joined their brother Knights to-day on their excursion to Victoria to decorate the graves of departed brothers.

Messrs. Telford and Kirkendall spent last Saturday cruising about Oyster bay in their new yacht, the Mollie.

Mr. Pierce, of Nanaimo, spent two days here last week taking views of Chemainus' picturesque scenery. He took home with him some beautiful views, besides $50 worth of orders from the villagers for private dwellings, etc.

Chemainus lodge, I.O.G.T., spent a very enjoyable time last evening in the lodge room. A number of members are about to depart and in their honor a supper was given and a programme rendered. The lodge closed before the proceedings so that outsiders might be admitted. Quite a number availed themselves of the opportunity.

Messrs. Allan, Kirkendall and Telford will leave on Friday for Victoria in a rowboat. They are quite expert oarsmen and expect to pull into the Capital before the sun sets.

The public school, of which Mr. Telford is teacher, closed yesterday for the holidays. For the convenience of the parents of the district the examination was held in the afternoon. The lively interest the parents take in the school was made clear by their full attendance. Mr. Allan, teacher of the river school, and Mr. Kirkendall and his pupils of Oyster bay, were also present. The acquittal of the pupils in their exercises was very satisfactory to the parents; much praise being merited in some lessons. Besides the public school scholars, Chemainus can boast of three high school pupils; two of whom have covered the work for Second Class "A" certificates. In connection with the exercises the following programme was given:

Recitation	Melbourne Westhaver
Recitation	Mabel Palmer
Song	School
Recitation	Willie Gray
Recitation	Pansy McGary
Reading	Charles Westhaver
Recitation	Lottie Westhaver
Song	School
Recitation	Minnie Gray
Reading	Eddie Conway
Recitation	Maud Westhaver
Recitation	Robbie Crozier
Recitation	James Wilson
Recitation	Eddie Conway

After the programme, Mr. Kirkendall, with a few appropriate remarks of congratulation, presented the following prize-winners with the honor rolls: Willie Gray (deportment), Charles Westhaver (proficiency), and Minnie Gray (punctuality and regularity). After some short addresses, in which practical remarks were given to the pupils, the examination was brought to a close by singing an appropriate hymn.

KAMLOOPS.

(From the Inland Sentinel.)

Manager Hepburn, of the Victoria Hydraulic Co., Quesnelle Forks, has the saw mill up and has been sawing lumber all the week. He has also nearly a mile of pipe in place and a plentiful supply of water. It is his intention to start piping about the 20th instant. The South Fork Hydraulic Co. have been piping and are now getting down to solid work, with bright prospects in view.

Messrs. Stenger and Reynolds have taken in a small stamping mill to their claim on Siwash creek, and will begin crushing ore as soon as the machinery is set up. The quartz is rich as far as the lead has been prospected, and the enterprising firm are confident they have a good thing. Other claims are being developed, and on the whole the Siwash creek camp appears to be in a prosperous condition. A number of prospectors are waiting the disappearance of the snow from the mountains to explore the region between Siwash creek and Granite creek, of which hardly anything is known at present.

GOLDEN.

(From the Golden Era.)

Lady Adela Cochrane, Miss Brady and Lady Gwendolen Rous, accompanied by T. B. H. Cochrane and Lord Norbury, were among the passengers of the Duchess, which arrived on Thursday.

George Cowan, from Sand Creek, reports work steadily progressing on the Empire, which shows a fine body of mineral.

W. H. Wartchow has bonded the "Sundown" from Messrs. Jonagan, Geary and Dan Kimpton.

CLINTON.

CLINTON, June 24.—Ross, the outlaw, gave himself up to the authorities this morning, at the 150-Mile House. It appears that he was committed to take his trial before Judge Cornwall, on the 24th (to day), and gave bonds for $500 for his appearance. He deserves credit for coming to the relief of his bondsmen. It is very likely Judge Cornwall will sentence him, as it was a case of drawing a pistol on an Indian. If he is not sentenced, of course he will be arrested on the other warrant. There is also another case to-day at the 150-Mile House. A man named Oaklyn is being tried for obliterating brands. The justice of the peace committed him and he was elected for speedy trial. It seems there is a nest of them. Brown, who with Matlock defied the authorities at Granite Creek, has not yet been caught. His horse was shot under him while swimming down stream.

PLUMPERS PASS.

PLUMPERS PASS, June 26.—The semi-annual examination of the Mayne Island public school took place on Friday last in the school-room, which was prettily decorated with evergreens and mottoes for the occasion. There was the usual average attendance of both friends and parents of the children, including Trustees Robson, Bennett and Bodine, and a deep interest was taken in the afternoon doings, the rapid progress made by the children being apparently noticed by all. The prize distribution was made by H. M. Stramberg, the Principal of the New Westminster High school, who gave words of encouragement to each of the successful scholars, whilst Trustee Robson complimented the teacher, Mr. J. W. Sinclair, upon the manner in which the school was conducted, remarking that the bond of confidence existing between teacher and scholars was a splendid augury for successful and future endeavors. The school examination on Galiano Island also took place the same afternoon, the children going through their lessons in an excellent manner. The thanks of the parents are due the teacher, Mr. D. Gallant, for the way in which he has identified himself with the interests of this school, which has been conducive in no small degree to the success and rapid progress made by the scholars. Visitors on that day could not fail to have noticed the interest the little ones took in their manual work, and the good attendance made by them throughout the term, is ample proof of the love they have for their studies.

The election of a trustee for the Mayne Island School Board, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Wm. Robson, J. P., took place on Saturday, when Mr. H. Macklin was elected by acclamation. On the motion of the newly elected trustee, a vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Robson for services rendered during his term of office, he having been associated with the School Board for the past ten years. Mr. R. Grubb, of whose term of trusteeship to the Galiano School Board had expired, was re-elected.

Flags in this vicinity were floating at half mast on Saturday and Sunday, the sad news having reached here of the calamity which had befallen H.M.S. Victoria.

The Point Comfort hotel is nearly completed, and is now left in the hands of the painters, who are decorating it with paint. It is expected that within two weeks everything will be in readiness to receive visitors, and a big time may be anticipated at the opening.

Mr. and Mrs. Grimmer and Mrs. Davidson, of Pender Island, paid a visit to the Pass on Tuesday. Mrs. Higgs, of Saturna Island, is staying at Sunnynook Bay. Fraser Lantz, of Tumbo Island, made a business trip over to Seattle during the week. E. Sherritt and L. Cullinson, of Victoria, are once again at the Pass, giving the finishing touch to the plastering of the new hotel. George Watson returned home to Victoria by the Islander Friday, having completed the plumbing contract in connection with that building.

A meeting of the members of the Rifle association will take place after the target practice on Saturday next, to consider the advisability of sending a representative to the meeting to be held at Goldstream next month.

Steamer Maude put in here for the night on Tuesday on her way to Vancouver. Part of her cargo consisted of dynamite and giant powder.

Mr. J. I. Imbert left here by the Rithet on Monday evening for Victoria, and intends leaving for his home in the West Indies the early part of next week.

Miss Green, of Portland, is on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Gabriel, of Tumbo Island. A brother also of Mrs. Gabriel came over from Blaine, on a visit, at the same time.

Messrs Graham Bros., of Graham Island, called here on their way up to the Fraser, where they intend locating for the next few weeks for the purpose of fishing.

Mr. N. H. Mawdsley, of Point Comfort, paid a visit home on Sunday last, returning to Victoria by the Rithet on Monday. J. Bennett, J. T. Bodine, John Patterson, Hunter Jack and H. M. Stramberg are paying the Capital a visit.

Arrangements are being made whereby cheap excursion rates will be made from here to Vancouver on the steamer Joan, to enable the inhabitants to assist at the Orange celebration on the 12th July.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

A Busy Night in the Council Chamber —Sewerage Construction and Inspection.

The Dominion Government and the Smallpox Epidemic of Last Year.

When Mayor Beaven took the chair last night in the City Council Chamber the aldermen present were Messrs. Baker, Henderson, Miller, Bragg, Belyea and McKillican. Later on Ald. Styles and Ald. Munn came in.

ALD. BELYEA's by-law to amend the Street by-law was finally adopted.

The Finance committee recommended the payment of $1,026.10 for miscellaneous expenses. They also recommended an appropriation of $32,193 for surface drainage.

ALD. BELYEA pointed out that there was nothing on the minutes to show that the tenders had been awarded.

The report of the Sewerage committee, by whom the contracts were awarded, was here read and approved, and the sum named by the Finance committee passed.

ALD. MCKILLICAN asked what amount had been set aside to defray the expenses of examining the tramway company's books.

THE MAYOR explained that no sum had been appropriated, but it was understood that it should not exceed $500.

ALD. MILLER said that the cost of the examination was $350. This he considered satisfactory.

THE MAYOR read the report of the Council re the complaint of Hon. Amor De Cosmos as to the erection of telephone poles opposite his property on Government street.

ALD. BELYEA moved a resolution approving of the erection of the poles in the interest of the community.

ALD. BAKER thought that Ald. Munn's suggestion should be adopted, so as to protect the citizens, and not give away the rights of the public to any company. If the city gave the right to the company to erect these poles, they should have something in return. The city should have the right to run wires on these poles.

ALD. MILLER supported the proposition, and moved that the matter lie over until some guarantee be given by the company that the city would have the use of the poles.

ALD. BELYEA pointed out that the resolution referring to two poles only—those opposite lots 533 and 534 Government street.

ALD. STYLES suggested that there should be some limit placed on the company as to the completion of their works, so far as the placing of the poles is concerned.

ALD. HENDERSON argued in favor of the city reserving to itself the right of using those poles if they thought right so to do.

ALD. MILLER moved that the subject stand over for one week.

ALD. BAKER seconded the amendment, which was supported by Ald. Bragg and carried.

ALD. BELYEA pointed out that the Legislature gave the telephone company the right to erect the poles, and it was futile for the Council to attempt to force terms upon them. The resolution before the board was simply approving of the location of two of these poles.

ALD. BAKER hinted that Ald. Belyea was acting for the telephone company, and

ALD. BELYEA indignantly denied the insinuation.

A letter was read from the secretary of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian society, extending a cordial invitation to the Mayor and Aldermen to be present at the annual gathering of the society on July 4.

The invitation was accepted with thanks.

A communication was also received from the Sons of Erin, asking the patronage of the Council, and also the use of the electric lights on the occasion of their annual celebration, to be held on July 1 at the Caledonia grounds. The proceedings of the celebration go to the B. C. Benevolent society.

The invitation was thankfully accepted, and the use of the lights granted.

A number of applications were read from parties anxious to obtain the newly created office of Police court clerk.

The applications were laid over.

There were also several applications for the position of inspector of sewerage works.

ALD. STYLES moved that the position of inspector be advertised; no one who is not a practical bricklayer to be appointed.

THE MAYOR asked if it was necessary to appoint an inspector, and suggested that the City Engineer be consulted on the point.

ALD. BRAGG thought there was something unpleasant about these appointments. If there were five or six applicants some of the aldermen would find a difficulty or delicacy in selecting.

ALD. BELYEA—This is the sort of thing that is killing this board—the anxiety of some of the aldermen to be on both sides of the fence. Why don't they cast their votes honestly and in favor of the best man.

After some further discussion the applications were tabled.

A letter was read from Mr. W. R. Wilson, calling attention to the necessity of drainage to accommodate the new Ames-Holden building.

ALD. HENDERSON moved that Mr. Flumerfelt be granted permission to construct a sewer from the premises, and connect with that of Wharf street.

ALD. BAKER seconded the motion, which carried.

Market Superintendent Johnson reported receipts for the month of May as $91.90.

A letter was received from H. B. Small, on behalf of the Minister of Agriculture, stating that the Government did not see its way to contribute to the expenses incurred in the suppression of the smallpox epidemic of last year.

THE MAYOR pointed out that the letter was dated, Ottawa, June 5. He did not remember the date on which the two ministers were in town, but he brought the subject to their notice and was informed by them that they had heard nothing of the matter.

"I think," said His Worship, "that we should not let this matter drop. It is a claim which they should entertain."

It was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the Mayor.

A complaint was received against the poundkeeper, who was charged with using abusive and threatening language.

ALD. BAKER and Ald. Belyea said that they had heard several complaints against the poundkeeper.

The communication was referred to committee.

It was agreed to admit Lewis Lewis, of Cowichan, to the Old Man's Home.

ALD. MCKILLICAN recommended the admission also of Hugh McKinlay.

A. J. Beckford wrote again re the intrusion on his property by Rock Bay bridge.

The communication was referred to the Streets committee.

Messrs. M. & L. Young, of the Few England, wrote asking to be refunded part of the sum expended by them on sewerage works opposite their premises.

ALD. BELYEA asked if there was any undertaking to reimburse the Messrs. Young.

THE MAYOR replied in the negative.

ALD. STYLES—Was not Mr. Redon reimbursed for the sewer laid by him?

THE MAYOR—No.

ALD. HENDERSON thought it very unfair not to reimburse those people who had constructed public sewers.

It was decided to inform Messrs. Young that there was no fund on hand to meet the case.

The following was read from the Secretary os the Agricultural Association, addressed to the Mayor and Board of Aldermen:

"Referring to the vote of a bonus of $3,000 to the B. C. Agricultural association to pay off the deficit on last year's exhibition, the Board of Management desire to thank you for the same, and would be glad to know when the fund will be available to draw upon, as they are anxious to get all old accounts cleared up as soon as possible. Awaiting the favor of your early reply," etc.

ALD. BELYEA called attention to the fact that the money was not voted to clear off last year's debts.

ALD. MILLER moved that Mr. Bainbridge be informed that the vote was not for last year. The motion prevailed, and the Council adjourned at 10:50.

DECORATING THE GRAVES.

Victoria's Pythian Knights Pay a Tribute to the Memory of their Departed Brethren.

A Large Contingent Down from Nanaimo On the Special Excursion Train.

Pythian Knights, members of the Victoria lodges and the lodges from all along the line of the E. & N., decorated the graves of their departed brethren at Ross Bay cemetery on Sunday, thus paying a tribute to the memory of the dead, in accordance with the custom of the Order.

The Nanaimo brethren came down on a special excursion train, there being about 400 visitors, including the Nanaimo Pythian band, a very good musical organization indeed. The visitors were met at the depot and escorted to Castle hall, on Broad street, where they were addressed briefly by Col. H. F. W. Behnsen. They then dispersed and met again at 2 p.m., when a procession was formed and all marched out to Ross Bay cemetery in the following order:

C Battery Band.
Col. Behnsen and Col. Richardson.
Officers of Nanaimo Division.
Victoria Division No. 2, U. R.
Nanaimo Lodge.
Northfield Lodge.
Wellington Lodge.
Duncan Lodge.
Pythian Cornet Band, Nanaimo.
Sunset Lodge, No 10.
Visiting Knights.
Far West Lodge, No. 1.

The procession marched up Yates street to Vancouver, thence to Ross Bay cemetery, where the Uniformed Rank formed a triangle inside the gates and Chancellor Commander John L Smith read the opening address, a beautiful eulogy of the dead, and an explanation why the graves of the departed were thus honored. The different graves were then visited, each being decorated with an abundance of choice flowers, while a brother read for each a eulogy. The first decorated was that of Richard Hunter, where Col. Behnsen read the address. The next was that of J. L. Englenardt, address by Bro P. J. Hall, the others in the following order: George E. Frye, address by Bro. W. J. Conlin; A. A. Green, address by Bro. Dr. Fraser; Frank Campbell, address by Bro. Thomas Deasy; D. F. and John F. Fee, address by Bro. H. L O'Brien; Peter Wilson, address by Bro. W. L Ogle; William Slater, address by Bro. S. Jones, jr., and Frederick Randolph, address by Capt. H. Dobbs.

The closing ceremony was conducted by C C., Edward Leeson, who, in his address, exhorted the brethren to remember that the graves of three departed members of Far West lodge could not be decerated by them. Arthur Williams' body lay beneath the waves, while Bros. Osterhaut and Barry had been buried in foreign lands.

The ceremony was concluded with the singing of a hymn, "May their slumbers all be bright," and the Knights then marched back to Castle hall, where a light luncheon was served and the Pythian Knights from Nanaimo were thanked cordially by the local lodges for their attendance, a high compliment being paid to the excellent cornet band. The visitors returned by special train which left at 8 o'clock in the evening.

TELEPHONE TROUBLES.

Hearing of the Complaints of Hon. Amor De Cosmos Brought to a Close.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning Mayor Beaven, Ald. Munn, Henderson, Miller, Baker and Styles, concluded the hearing of evidence in the case presented by Hon. Amor De Cosmos, who objects to the placing of certain telephone poles opposite his property on Government street. Hon. A. N. Richards and Mr. H. D. Helmcken appeared for the complainant, and Mr. E V. Bodwell represented the Victoria and Esquimalt Telephone Co.

Manager McMicking, of the telephone company, was the first witness examined. He was questioned as to the safety of certain poles, to the location of which Mr. De Cosmos took exception. The witness averred that the poles complained of were perfectly safe.

Hon. Mr. De Cosmos was then further examined, and at considerable length stated his objections to the placing of the telephone poles, and contended that they were unnecessarily high, and unsafe.

This concluded the evidence, and Hon. Mr. Richards addressed the Council on behalf of his client. He quoted from the Ontario Act to show that forty feet was the prescribed height of telephone poles, and argued that if such regulations were found to be advantageous in Ontario, they ought to work in Victoria. Such high poles as the Telephone Company were putting up in this city were a danger to the community, and altogether unnecessary.

Mr. Bodwell, for the Telephone Company, contended that there was no danger by reason of the high poles, and that for public convenience the company should be encouraged, rather than have obstacles thrown in their way.

This concluded the investigation, the result of which will be officially reported to the City Council.

In the evening the Board of Aldermen decided unanimously that the position of the poles complained of should remain unaltered.

The plain truth is good enough for Hood's Sarsaparilla. No need of embellishment or sensationalism. Hood's Cures.

ESTABLISHED 1879.

Real Estate Agent, Conveyancer and Notary Public

Loans Effected, Rents and Income Collected, Deeds Prepared, Etc., Etc.

FOR SALE--A 1388-ACRE FARM

About 1000 Acres of which is Ploughable Prairie of First-class Quality.

120 Head (more of less) Cows, Steers, 2-year olds, etc., etc., (about 60 or more to calve this spring), 1 pedigree Hereford Bull (rising 3 years.

7 Mares (in foal to a good stallion), 1 Horse, Pigs, Chickens, etc.

Ploughs, Harrows, Reaper, Fanning Mill, Wagon, Sleds and usual Farm Implements.

Double Harness, Chain Harness, Bull Chains, Saddles (ladies' and gent's), Bridles, etc.

Blacksmiths' Bellows, Anvil and Tools and Carpenters' Tools.

9-Room House (shingle roofed; Stable for 10 horses, with hay loft above; Stone Roothouse, Store Buildings, Dairy, Cow Sheds, etc., etc.

4 Miles (about) Standing Fences, in good order; Corralls, 10 miles barbed wire and staples; about 2,500 Posts on the ground, ready for use, etc., etc.

Small Lot Household Furniture, Stove and Pipes, Cooking Utensils, Crockery, etc., etc.

This Property is within easy distance of many of the most important Gold, Silver and Coal Mines in West Kootenay. The population of this district will increase this year by at least 10,000; the area of farm land is very limited, and from this it may be fairly asserted that beef and all classes of farm produce will find a ready and lucrative market. The soil is the best bottom land, and the locality is one of the few places in the Province where so large a piece of good farm land can be found in one block. A river runs through the property, and rainbow trout are plentiful and afford capital sport. Deer abound in considerable numbers. Bear, Wolf, Coyote and other large game are to be found in the hills. There are two creeks recorded and belonging to the estate, one flows all the year round. Limestone and brick clay are to be had in the valley.

The Cattle are well bred; a much larger herd could be farmed with the place. The bunch grass on the hills in the vicinity covers many thousands of acres, and is available to the few land owners in the valleys. All buildings and fences about the farm are in good order, and farming operations can be gone on with at once; about 180 acres of ploughing have been, so far, provided for this year's work.

The Climate is not severe, the land being about 1,100 feet above sea level; the station was for many years the winter quarters of the H. B. Co.'s pack trains. There is a weekly express in and out. Goods and supplies at wholesale can be procured on order and delivered in 48 hours.

The Title is by grant from the Crown, and is free of all encumbrances. Immediate possession can be given.

Important Railway works are now in progress within moderate distance, and two railway lines have been run to pass close to or through the estate, which can be reached in the spring in three days' journey from Victoria.

The South West Kootenay District, British Columbia, judging from the actual ore products of the mines this winter, is destined in the next year or two to become one of the richest and most important mineral centres in the world. Statistics show, that although the district is in its primary stage, the mines have developed ore veins rich enough to warrant the investment of over a million dollars. When these mines come to be worked systematically, there will be an Influx of Population, which will require beef and farm produce in large quantities. The limited quantity of really good farm land in the district to supply these requirements makes this

A BONANZA!

To any person or corporation having the capital and knowledge necessary to develop and work this estate. A store, hotel and blacksmith shop could be run in connection with the farm.

THE EXHIBITION.

The President and Directors of the Agricultural Association have decided to hold the Exhibition this year somewhere between the 1st and the 12th of August. Having the Exhibition so early will ensure a good attendance and increase the chances of there being fine weather while it is being held.

It is to be hoped that there will be a determination among all classes of producers on the Island and the Mainland to make the Exhibition from every point of view a success. Last year's display was a very good one, both as regards the quality and the variety of the articles exhibited, but there was room for improvement. Those who noticed the short-comings of last year's show will be in a position this year to suggest and to make the improvements that are required. From what has already been done, it can be seen that there is nothing to hinder the Victoria Exhibition, being, for its size, the most complete and the most tasteful exhibition on the Pacific Coast. But this result cannot be achieved without work. The cause is, however, a good one, and is well worth every exertion that can be made to advance it. British Columbia manufacturers should make a fine display this year. It will take time to prepare exhibits, and if good use is made of the weeks intervening between this and the date of the Exhibition a great deal can be done. The farmers and gardeners will, we are sure, do their best. It must not be forgotten that the Exhibition is a Provincial one, and that it will be regarded as such by those who visit it from abroad. It ought, therefore, to be an adequate representation of the industrial condition and the resources of the whole of British Columbia.

THE GERMAN SITUATION.

The result of the second elections in Germany has been to improve the position of the Government. It is calculated that the elections have given the Government a majority of one. But this does not give British readers, who judge according to British precedents, a fair view of the situation. In Germany, what the English know as party Government, does not exist. The Government counts for a great deal more in Germany than it does in England. With a majority of only one a British Prime Minister would despair of being able to carry on the Government. He would have to increase his majority by some means, or resign. But Chancellor Caprivi has no thought of resigning. On the contrary he is said to be in good spirits, and is by no means disheartened by the result of the elections. It is said that he is prepared to accept a compromise with respect to the Army Bill when the Reichstag meets, but all such reports we believe are pramature. No one yet knows—most likely not Caprivi himself—what the Government will do when matters become settled and the different factions know their own strength. It is not improbable that the Government will find itself much stronger than it was a year ago. It is evident that all men of conservative tendencies in Germany, by whatever name they are called, are alarmed at the electoral strength which the Social Democrats have shown. They may see that the public good requires that a firm stand be made against Socialism. In order to do this effectually it may be necessary to make new party combinations. These men will be willing to co-operate with those who do not differ from them widely in principle to accomplish this end. It is most likely that the new combination will find it necessary to strengthen the hands of the Government. In that case it is not at all probable that the Emperor will recede in the least from the stand he has taken. He may be able to show that the increase of the army which he asked for last year is, under present circumstances, even more necessary than when the Army Bill was framed. And it will not, it may readily be supposed, be very difficult to bring a majority of the Reichstag round to his opinion.

A PARADOX.

An International Fire Congress was held in London a short time ago. The best way of preventing and extinguishing fires and many kindred subjects were discussed at that Congress. During the discussions some singular and noteworthy facts were brought out and commented upon. One of these was that, although the fire brigades and fire extinguishing apparatus of the United States are the most effective in the world, the losses by fire in the cities of the Republic are very much greater in proportion to population than they are in the cities of Europe.

The value of the property destroyed by fire in the cities of the United States and Canada is enormous. The aggregate loss in the two countries last year was $132,000,000, and if the ratio of the first six months of the present year is maintained, the sum of the losses will reach $150,000,000. Add to this immense sum the $35,000,000 required to maintain the fire departments, and $65,000,000 of insurance, and it will be seen how much the fires of North American cities and villages cost their inhabitants. The sixty-five millions paid as insurance is not lost to the whole community, as the property consumed by fire was, but it is lost to the insurers. The destruction caused by each fire in America is greater than that of the average fire in an European city. We see that of "the 2,892 actual fires in London in 1891, 2,699 were confined to the floors on which they originated, 184 extending beyond such floors, six to adjoining property, and only three extended beyond adjoining property; while in Vienna it is claimed that in no case has a fire extended beyond the building in which it originated." In a small section of Boston, on the other hand, there have, within the last five years, been consumed some fifteen million dollars worth of property. Yet it costs the citizens of Boston one million a year to maintain their fire department.

It is said, in explanation, that the governmental and municipal regulations in Europe, with regard to the construction of houses and the heating of buildings, are so numerous and so stringent that citizens of the United States would not submit to them. We should think that it would be much more easy to submit to rigid building regulations than to have to bear such immense losses by fire.

We have seen somewhere that enquiry has shown that the losses by fire this year, during a period of not very great trade depression, are twenty-five per cent. greater than they were last year, when times were better. The inference which the reader is left to draw is that there is a proportion of insurers who, when times get hard, set fire to their property, in order to secure the insurance money and to escape bankruptcy. It is unpleasant to be forced to this conclusion, for the person who sets fire to his own property not only cheats the insurance company, but he is careless of the injury which he may do to his neighbors. The man who, to secure a dishonest gain to himself, will run the risk of ruining his neighbors, to whom he may be under many obligations, is a thorough-paced scoundrel. Yet there are many such scoundrels in the cities of America.

A MODERN BALAAM.

Writers in the French newspapers and French politicians have never been tired of abusing Great Britain for continuing to occupy Egypt. They have strenuously denied that British occupation has been of the least benefit to the inhabitants of Egypt. The British, they hold, keep troops in Egypt solely for the advantage of the British Empire, with the view, in course of time, of taking complete possession of the country.

On no subject have French editors, of late years, written so bitterly and so violently as on the British occupation of Egypt. In order to collect facts damaging to Great Britain, and to supply his paper with articles that the French public would be sure to relish, M. Dubois, of the staff of the Figaro, went on a mission to Egypt. In giving an account of the preparations he made he says:

I frankly confess at the outset that I started for Egypt, two months ago, with the idea of bringing back something corresponding to Gladstone's "Bulgarian atrocities." I packed my portmanteau, purposely choosing a very large one, with a view of bringing back the voluminous documents which I could not fail to collect against the British occupation. "Egypt for the Egyptians." Here was an opportunity to defend one of those generous causes which the Figaro loves to champion. Well, here I am back again. The portmanteau remains just as it was when I started. The space reserved for the anti-British documents has not been required.

Mr. Felix Dubois, when he went to Egypt and since he has returned to France, has been impelled to play the part of a modern Balaam. He went to Egypt to curse, he came back to bless; he went to condemn the British, he came back to justify nearly everything they have done in the land of the Pharaohs. He, no doubt, found many in that country who were ready to abuse the British to their heart's content—intriguing Frenchmen and discontented and disappointed Turks and Egyptians. But he was determined to inquire and to judge for himself. He did enquire, and his judgment is that the British have done good in Egypt and not evil, and he is not afraid to give the world the result of his observations in the Figaro in excellent French.

He found that since Egypt has been under the British tutelage there has been unquestionably, from every point of view, notable progress. The finances of the country have been wonderfully improved. Instead of being bankrupt—or next thing to it—the credit of Egypt stands high in the money markets of Europe. He says:—

Order has been implanted bit by bit, notably in the finances of the country which were formerly managed in the most absurdly eccentric manner. On this point one may be content to rely upon the eloquence of a Bourse quotation from which it may be seen that the Unified Debt at the present moment is above par. Despite the service of that enormous debt (two and a half millions of francs for five million of inhabitants) it has been possible to create for that service a reserve fund which will soon attain one hundred million francs.

This is the best possible evidence of wise administration, and evidence, too, that no one can gainsay. The quotations of the stock market are not made to serve the purposes of either a party or a nation.

Agriculture has been improved. The irrigation works that have been constructed under British direction are worthy of all admiration. The yield of the land has greatly increased and the cultivator is no longer a down-trodden slave. The public works of the country have been carefully attended to, and justice has been impartially administered. The boodler is not to be found in Egypt, and even "backsheesh" has been driven out of the country. Seeing all these improvements and finding the country in a flourishing state, "How, after this," exclaims the honest French journalist, "was I going to conjure up atrocities?"

There were none to conjure up. M. Dubois does not believe that the Egyptians could or would unaided keep the country in its present well-governed and prosperous condition. His description of the effects of the British occupation of Egypt may not be palatable to many Frenchmen, but it will show them that the evacuation of that country would be a misfortune, not only to Egypt, but to almost every civilized nation in the world.

THE CITY.

LUCKY numbers in Morris' last Saturday night's drawing—889, 906 and 1,197.

THE first strawberry social of the season will be given this evening at Calvary Baptist church.

WORKMEN are engaged in repairing the American hotel, recently gutted by fire, and which will be once more habitable in about three weeks.

C. STROUSS and E. Bloomingdale have dissolved partnership, the former retiring. Mr. Bloomingdale will continue the business under the old firm name of Strouss & Co.

AN interesting debate on the subject of whether tobacco is injurious to the human system or not, was held last evening, in the Centennial Methodist church, Gorge road, by the members of the Epworth League.

A COURT OF REVISION will be held in the City Hall this morning, at which sixty-five direct appeals, embracing some 220 holdings will be disposed of. The appellants claim that their property is assessed too heavily.

THE COLONIST staff yesterday acted as judges upon an excellent box of strawberries, first year's crop, grown by Mr. W. D. White of Sooke. This gentleman certainly takes the prize for the quality as well as the size of his fruit.

FEMALE offenders were the only ones before the city police magistrate yesterday. Fanny Ovan, found drunk, was convicted and discharged; Jessie Cook and Lizzie, arraigned for the same misdeamor, did not appear, and their cash bail was ordered estreated.

CORONER HASELL and a jury, of which Mr. F. W. Garland was foreman, heard the evidence yesterday in connection with the birth and death of an infant brought into the world Sunday at the Refuge Home. The evidence given by Dr. Corsan, was that the child was puny and weak, weighing but one pound at birth, and the verdict was death from natural causes.

MANAGER JAMIESON has reason to feel proud of the measure of success achieved by the first of his series of Sunday evening concerts. Although a large audience was scarcely expected, the house was well filled, and the several numbers on the programme were received with warmest expressions of approval, encores being insisted upon in almost every number. Mme. Monteith-Fischel's singing of "The Lost Chord," which she substituted for Mendelssohn's "O, Rest in the Lord," in closing the programme, will linger long and pleasantly in memory.

MRS. A. C. SHELDON, of Portland, who, as Miss Anna Shaw, was one of the most popular members of St. Andrew's cathedral choir, favored the large congregations there assembled with two solos last Sunday. In the morning she sang an Ave Maria with great feeling, and in the evening the Inflammatus from Rossini's Stabat Mater. Her voice has grown sweeter as well as stronger in recent months, and her Victoria friends regret that they will be deprived of the pleasure of frequently hearing it, for Mrs. Sheldon returns to her home in Oregon to morrow.

SINCE returning to her home in Merced, Miss Lucy Rucker has denounced the Rev. Mr. Reams in decidedly strong terms, insisting that he forced her to elope with him. This, of course, Reams denies, and he says that at the proper time he will produce evidence in proof of his assertion. He inclines to the opinion that Miss Rucker was coerced by her father and friends into giving evidence again him, and adopted her present stand by their advice in order to regain her position in society. Reams is still at the Provincial jail, where he was visited yesterday by Rev. Ebenezer Robson, the first clergyman who has called upon him.

ESQUIMALT, Victoria's quiet and peaceful suburb, which has been irreverently compared to "sweet Auburn" by certain American visitors, yesterday enjoyed all the pleasurable excitement of a fashionable, though quiet wedding. The bride was Miss Ella C. Innes, youngest daughter pf Mr. J. H. Innes, naval storekeeper, and the groom, Mr. W. E. Scott, of Fruitvale, Salt Spring Island, the ceremony being performed at St. Paul's church by Rev. Mr. Sheldrick, of Kamloops, assisted by Rev. Mr. Marwood, chaplain of the flagship. Miss Maud Dunsmuir was bridesmaid, Miss Constance Ward and Miss Muriel Sheldrick being the maids of honor, and Mr. Hills supporting the groom.

VERY many visitors were hospitably received on board the flagship Royal Arthur at Esquimalt, Sunday, the ship's company manifesting a desire to please and oblige all by explaining the numerous mysteries to the uninitiated. The Royal Arthur may be described in few words as one gigantic piece of wonderful machinery, both offensive and defensive, and, even to those familiar with the equipment of less modern warships, a visit will prove an object lesson. Since receiving news of Thursday's disaster in the Mediterranean, the naval men have cancelled all social engagements, nor has the band played as usual at the Admiral's dinner hour. As soon as the expected orders are received from the Admiralty, the officers will go in mourning for their lamented brother officers of the Victoria. Cablegrams received on board ship confirm all that has been published in regard to the catastrophe, but give few additional particulars. Out of the forty officers on the Victoria, which commissioned on the same day as the Royal Arthur, twenty-seven have been saved, a greater per centage than among the men. Chaplain Morris and Fleet Surgeon Thomas Bole were very wellknown in Victoria, having been here with the Triumph only a few years ago. Mr. Lambert and Mr. Hulton also have many friends among the people of the Pacific Coast, who will anxiously watch for their names in the list of the living. Gunnery Instructor Skeats was probably the best known of the men among the Victoria's company, at least to British Columbians. He, too, was at Esquimalt with the Triumph, then serving as a second-class petty officer. Sunday's church services at Esquimalt were largely attended by the seamen of the men-of-war in port, having special reference as they did to the unfortunate occurence of the week, which stilled so many brave British hearts.

MEMBERS of the Loyal Orange lodges will attend the funeral of their late brother, William Campbell, to-day.

THE City of Kamloops will have its official seal ready for use at the first meeting of its council, to be held on July 1. Mayor Clarke arranged for the die yesterday.

DOMINION DAY will witness the annual picnic of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Societies. Their dates for this year's exhibition are October 5 and 6.

THIS is about the time of year that attention is called to the Thistle by-law and some steps are taked to have the much abused weed cut before it blooms. As usual, there is a plentiful crop.

THE funeral of the late David Goodsir will take place from his late residence, Lansdowne road, Oakland estate, to-morrow, at 2 p.m. Deceased was a native of Scotland, and 63 years of age at the time of his death.

JUDGE EVANS, of Cadboro Bay, whose garden is one of the earliest in the Province, has presented his friends with new potatoes, which, if they are not the first of the home production, are very early, and, what is more, thoroughly matured.

THE drinking trough for horses and dogs, at the junction of Government and Douglas streets, is now working full time, day and night, and proving a great public convenience. The music of the fountain is hushed, however, and the thirsty human animal goes dry.

THERE is on exhibition, in Mr. C. A. Lombard's window, on Government street, a very nicely executed water color of Pope Leo XIII., by Mr. Joseph Carpenter, of this city. It is a copy of the celebrated Thaddeus' picture, and shows considerable merit for an amateur. Mr. Carpenter has presented his work to Bishop Lemmens.

WORK on the new isolation hospital, being erected by the city on the site adjoining the Jubilee hospital, is progressing as rapidly as possible, and it is expected that before long the present wooden buildings on Cadboro Bay road, on the hospital property, will be pulled down. Workmen are now laying the water pipes from Cadboro Bay road to the new buildings.

RT. REV. BISHOP PERRIN held confirmation services on Sunday afternoon in Christ Church Cathedral, when some forty candidates, prepared for the sacrament by Rev. J. B. Hewetson, presented themselves, and were admitted into full membership of the church. The services were largely attended, the Bishop being assisted by Rev. Canon Beanlands and Rev. J. B. Hewetson.

THE programme for the concert on Wednesday evening in St. John's school-room, under the management of the Ladies' Guild of St. John's Church, has now been arranged and is being printed. There will be a sale of work in the afternoon with tea and refreshments, served on the Rectory lawn should the weather prove favorable. It is the intention of the ladies of the Guild to hold a large bazaar in the fall, probably in September, but in the meantime the present sale of work is to be held, there being a large variety of goods to be disposed of.

IN course of his sermon at Christ church cathedral, on Sunday morning, Bishop Perrin made a feeling reference to the great disaster that caused the loss of so many lives on H.M.S. Victoria. Rev. J. B. Hewetson, who preached the evening sermon, dealt more fully with the appalling calamity, and afterwards Bishop Perrin offered special prayers for the lost seamen, and for the widows and orphans who were, by their deaths, bereaved. At the close of the service the whole congregation stood and remained silent while the organist, Mr. Pauline, played the Dead March in Saul. The whole service was one of the most impressive ever heard in the cathedral.

THE church parade of Sunday brought out in full strength the members of the C.O.O.F., all of whom wore their regalia The meeting took place at the K. of P. hall, Broad street, and, headed by Noble Grand McIntosh, the brethren marched to Calvary Baptist church, where the anniversary services were conducted by Rev. J. E. Coombs. The brethren having been seated, all the then available space was quickly filled by their friends The service throughout was most impressive, and in the course of his sermon Rev. Mr. Coombs dwelt upon the advantages of such organizations as the C O O F., and commended the institution for its many excellent characteristics. Every lodge in the city was represented in the church and on parade.

LARGE congregations assembled at the Metropolitan Methodist church both morning and evening on Sunday last to welcome the new pastor, Rev. Solomon Cleaver, B A. Mr. Cleaver is a young man, full of force and vigor, and the first impressions received by his congregation were eminently satisfactory. In the morning his theme was the relation of the pastor to the people, and in the evening the needs of both for the Divine guidance and assistance. In referring to Rev. Mr. Cleaver's departure from St. Catharines, his former charge, the Christian Guardian has the following: "The farewell sermons of the pastor, Rev. S. Cleaver, were preached to large and attentive congregations. In the morning he chose for his text Prov. xxix 25, 'Whoso putteth his trust in the Lord shall be safe.' To a large congregation, composed principally of the membership of the church, he spoke encouragingly of the Christian's trust and safety, both in the present life and also for the life to come. In the evening the church was filled with a congregation representing all the city churches. The pastor spoke in feeling terms of the pleasant relations which had existed for the past two years between himself and his people, and prayed God's blessing upon them in their future. He chose for his evening remarks Rev. vii. 9, and graphically portrayed the glories and happiness of those who are now beyond all partings and separation. His words will long be remembered by all who heard them, and must bring forth fruit. The congregation of this church are very loath to part with their pastor, for, both in the pulpit and in their homes, he has helped and blessed them by his words of sympathy and counsel. The prayers and best wishes of this church go with him to his distant field of labor."

THERE will be no formal reception to Rev. S. Cleaver at the Metropolitan Methodist church, in compliance with the new pastor's expressed wish. Last evening the Epworth league of the church enjoyed a strawberry social.

AT parade of No. 2 Battery this evening, great coats will be issued to all men who have not yet been supplied. Those who have great coats will produce the same before parade in order have them inspected and rolled.

HON. AMOR DE COSMOS has given notice that he will close up to-day, from 9 o'clock a.m. to 3 p.m., certain private streets owned by him in sections 17, 18, 19 and 20, Spring Ridge, and known as Cameson, Johnson and Pandora streets. Men were at work yesterday digging post holes and putting the fences ready for the purpose.

LOYAL Orange lodges 1,426, 1,607 and 1,610 will hold a union excursion to Nanaimo on July 12 to participate in the celebration there of the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. The Joan has been chartered for the occasion and a good programme of sports and games will be provided during the day, a feature of which will be a tug-of-war between Island and Mainland brethren.

A MEETING of the management of the B C. Agricultural Association was held last evening in the secretary's office. Several important matters in connection with the coming exhibition were discussed and advanced a stage. Another meeting will be held on Friday evening next, when reports from the various committees will be handed in and definite arrangements decided upon.

THERE was a good attendance at the entertainment given in the Odd Fellows' hall, Fernwood road, under the management of Pride of the Ridge lodge No. 23, C O O F., last evening. Although of an ordinary character, the programme furnished was an excellent one. During the evening refreshments were served. Mr. MacEchran presided, and among those who took part in the programme wer Mr. Baird, Mr. Wills, Miss Banfield, Messrs. Hall, Mc Levy, Mr. Moody, Miss Myers, Mr. Watson, Mr. Ferris and Mr. Annington. The lodge visits Victoria West to-morrow.

AN enthusiastic meeting of Ottoway lodge, No. 354, Sons of St. George, was held last evening. Among those present were P. P.W.D D. George Penketh, J. E. Painter, Honolulu; W. Stephenson, late of Honolulu; also several members of Milton lodge After the usual lodge business terminated the lodge adjourned for an interesting concert and jolly good supper, provided by part of the members and presided over by Bro. Carter. The following rendered songs: Bros Penketh, Carter, Fullerton, Basset, Robertson, Cross, Stephenson, Watson, and after an enjoyable evening the lodge adjourned until July 9.

THERE was a full attendance of members at the special meeting of the Public School Board held last night, presided over by Chairman Hayward. The object of the meeting was the consideration of plans for the proposed new graded schools, one of which will be in the North Ward and the other in the South. There were 23 sets of plans on exhibition, many of which were novel in design, and showed some very acceptable innovations. Having carefully considered the designs, the Board picked out ten of the most acceptable, and at another meeting, to be held in the course of a few days, will probably decide as to which of these will be accepted. The committee on sites also reported progress, but asked for further time in which to make their selection.

ANOTHER genial Englishman—a long-timer, though probably not a pioneer—has passed away in the person of Mr. James S. Brocklehurst. At the corner of Fourth street and Hillside Avenue stands a brick cottage whose floricultural and horticultural surroundings give ample testimony to the tastes of its owner, and all who know her can testify that in his wife, whom he leaves behind, the deceased had indeed a helpmeet. A man of easy leisure, Mr. Brocklehurst's garden was his pride, and its products he was ever prepared to share with his friends and acquaintances, particularly those who were not so well blessed with this world's goods as he was. In his home were stored numerous relics of the old home in England, besides curiosities which he had collected in Australia and elsewhere. The deceased was born at St. Neots, Huntingdon, England, some sixty-seven years ago, and after considerable travel settled down in Australia, where he conducted a newspaper, and subsequently returned to England where he engaged in the bookselling, printing and stationery business at Uttoxeter, Staffordshire. During his career he not only saw the world, but amassed a fair competence, coming out here to spend his last years in Victoria—a city to which he was much attached and in whose praise he was never tired of speaking. A whole-souled, much-travelled and well informed man, it was no wonder that those who knew him loved him, and his removal will be to them a source of the deepest regret. He was a victim to Bright's disease, from which he had suff red for months. His widow, it is certain, will have the deep sympathy of a large circle who have long known her, to appreciate her qualities of both head and heart. The funeral takes place this afternoon from the residence, 84 Fourth street, at 1:30 and from Christ Church Cathedral at 2 o'clock.

RE SCHOOL HEATING AND VENTILATING.

TO THE EDITOR:—In discussing so important a matter to the public in general it is as well they should know, in addition to the letter published by "Observer" in Sunday morning's COLONIST, re the Smead & Rutten heating and ventilating system, that some of our School Trustees have had all expenses paid to Vancouver by the agents of the Smead system, thereby endangering a fair and impartial decision, especially when we consider that these same trustees have had little or no experience in which to guide them to decide intelligently. It appears to me the best way to settle so important a point would be to leave it to the decision of a committee of medical and sanitary men, who have made this a study and have practical experience in which to guide them, and too practical to be hoodwinked by the projectors of any system.

Lord Dunraven's Cup Defender Once More Runs Away from Her Formidable Rivals.

Wheelmen Invited to Visit the Terminal City—Gaudaur's Answer to Stansbury.

LIVERPOOL, June 26.—The four crack yachts of the season, the Prince of Wales' Britannia, Lord Dunraven's Valkyrie, Mr. J. Jamieson's Iverna, and Mr. A. Clark's Satanita, raced to-day over a sixty mile course. The race proved decidedly tame, for the wind was poor. The Valkyrie finished first, in 6 hours and 15 minutes. The Britannia was second, in 6 hours, 25 minutes and 17 seconds, and the Satanita third, in 6 hours, 28 minutes and 28 seconds. The Iverna finished last, a long distance behind the others.

LACROSSE.

PREPARING FOR SATURDAY.

The Victoria and Vancouver seniors cross sticks on Saturday at Brockton Point in the next match of the lacrosse championship series. Victoria will be represented by practically the same men who have proved victorious in every match played this season, and as the team are practising hard it is likely they will gather fresh laurels in the coming contest. Each evening this week there will be practice, and every member should attend as to be in as good shape as possible for Saturday.

THE WHEEL.

DOMINION DAY AT VANCOUVER.

The secretary of the Wanderers is in receipt of the appended communication from the Vancouver Bicycle club, which will be considered at the regular meeting of the local club this evening. It is expected that the Wanderers will be represented by twenty-five riders in parade and ten on the path, though it will be noticed that Vancouver has offered no special inducement to others than racers to attend:

VANCOUVER, June 19, 1893.

DEAR SIR:—Will you kindly convey to your club an invitation from the Vancouver cycling club to come to Vancouver on Saturday, July 1, and participate with us in the celebration of Dominion Day.

As usual on that day we intend to have a number of bicycle races, and hope to have numerous entries from among the riders of your city. A committee will meet all who come to Vancouver by boat or train, and conduct them to a suitable room, engaged for the headquarters of the wheelmen, and where their wheels will be properly taken care of. We enclose memo of programme of races arranged for the day, and, as soon as received from the printers, will mail you a number of printed copies.

Will you kindly ask all who intend taking part in the races to send in their entries as soon as possible to Maurice Glutzberger, handicapper for the day; stating all particulars as to wheel, etc.

Hoping to see you over in full force, we remain,

Yours fraternally,

(Sd.) J. LAURENSON, President. (Sd.) A. A. BOAK, Sec'y-Treas.

CRICKET.

SWEEPING ALL BEFORE THEM.

A letter from San Francisco to Superintendent of Police H. W. Sheppard, himself an enthusiastic cricketer, states that Messrs. Robertson and Webster, who were here with the California eleven a season or so ago, have organized a new club in the Coast metropolis which is sweeping all before it. Both Mr. Robertson and Mr. Webster are thoroughly good exponents of the great English game, and British Columbians hear with satisfaction of every success they achieve.

THE OAR.

GAUDAUR IS AGREEABLE.

TORONTO, Ont., June 26.—When shown the statement from Oarsman Stansbury, in which he declines to row three miles with a turn for the world's championship, Jake Gaudaur sent the following reply: "Will row Stansbury three miles straight away at Orillia for $2,500 a side."

HERE AND THERE.

There has been some talk during recent weeks of organizing a Veterans' Cricket club in Victoria, probably with Mr. Partridge as captain. Such a move, if made early in the season, would no doubt be productive of a first class club.

Stocks in New York.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Pacific railroad bonds closed as follows: Union firsts, 106 bid; Union sinking funds, 101½ bid; Centrals, 105 bid. The stock market was feverish and unsettled throughout the day. There was one or two sharp rallies, but they failed to hold. The bears were far more aggressive than of late, in consequence of the stringency in money, which holds operations for long account in check. The brokers are indisposed to advise purchasers so long as they see trouble ahead in regard to obtaining accommodation at the banks. The big drop in silver certificates also operated in favor of lower markets for securities, and the conflicting statements concerning the affairs of the Reading caused more or less uneasiness. The decline was ½ to 3⅜ per cent. American sugar fell 3¾ to 77½; do., preferred, 3⅜ to 78; general electric, ¾; Great Northern, preferred, 3⅜; Michigan Central, 3 to 94; St. Paul, 2¼ to 66; Union Pacific, 1½ to 45⅞; and Western Union, 10 to 81½. Cordage, preferred, sold at 40½ against 53 the last previously reported sale, and Oregon Navigation at 57½ against 69. Late in the day the rate for money dropped under offerings by the foreign banks, and the stock market rallied ½ to 1¾ per cent. The sales reached 254,498 shares, including 36,897 unlisted stocks. Closing prices: Canadian Pacific, 76; Denver and Rio Grande, 13; Missouri Pacific, 30⅝; North American, 8¼; Northern Pacific, 13¼; Northern Pacific, preferred, 33⅜; Northern Western, 103½; Oregon Navigation, 55; Oregon Improvement, 10; Pacific Mail, 18; Western Union Telegraph, 81⅜

Cattle in Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 26.—Cattle, receipts 10,500; shipments 4,000; market active, 10c @ 15c higher; top steers, $5 25 @ $5 50; good, $4.50 @ $5 20 Hogs, receipts 38 000; shipments 9 000; market shows 25c @ 30c lower; closing prices, mixed and packers, $6 00 @ $6 15; prime, heavy and butcher weights, $6 10 @ $6 25; light, $6 10 @ $6 30 Sheep, receipts 130 000; shipments 2 500; market active and 10c @ 15c higher; top sheep, $4 50 @ $5 30; lambs $5 50 @ $6 60.

A Little Red Spot

Developed Into Severe Case of Psoriasis

Wonderful Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla

Mr. Theo. Destiche
Green Bay, Wis.

"I am very glad to tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I was digging a well; by some slight accident scraped off a little of the skin between my left knee and ankle. Next day appeared, which spread something like a run-round. Then more spots and patches came; first on my legs, and finally all over my body, even on the bottoms of my feet, the palms of my hands, and inside my ears. It was a terrible sight and the itching and burning was intense.

I Scratched and Scratched, only to make my body raw and in a more fearful condition yet. Physicians treated me without benefit. During the summer the disease was agonizing. One day my son took me to Rev. Father Cantevecl's, Schiller P. O., township Humboldt, a distance of eight miles. He advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I lost no time in getting Hood's Sarsaparilla and began taking it, according to the directions. The result was wonderful and a most joyous one for me. The large scabs which had covered my body, peeled off in great flakes. Dark spots remained, but all disappeared in about 6 months.

I Am now a Well Man.

No one who has not passed through such a terrible ordeal knows of the great joy to once more be perfectly well. I am very thankful to Hood's Sarsaparilla and Rev. Father." THEO. DESTICHE, Robinsonville, Green Bay, Wis.

"I suppose I could expect no better," said I, "but I think you might try and be a little kind to me for the last end of it. I see not why you should be harsh. I have loved you very well, Catriona—no harm that I should call you so for the last time. I have done the best that I could manage; I am trying the same still and only vexed that I can do no better. It is a strange thing to me that you can take any pleasure to be hard to me."

"I am not thinking of you," she said. "I am thinking of that man, my father."

"Well, and that way, too," said I. "I can be of use to you that way, too; I will have to be. It is very needful, my dear, that we should consult about your father. For the way this talk has gone an angry man will be James More."

She stopped again. "It is because I am disgraced?" she asked.

"That is what he is thinking," I replied, "but I have told you already to think naught of it."

"It will be all one to me," she cried. "I prefer to be disgraced!"

I did not know very well what to answer and stood silent.

There seemed to be something working in her bosom after that last cry. Presently she broke out: "And what is the meaning of all this? Why is all this shame loundered on my head? How could you dare it, David Balfour?"

"My dear," said I, "what else was I to do?"

"I am not your dear," she said, "and I defy you to be calling me these words."

"I am not thinking of my words," said I. "My heart bleeds for you, Miss Drummond. Whatever I may say, be sure you have my pity in your difficult position. But there is just the one thing that I wish you would bear in view, if it was only long enough to discuss it quietly, for there is going to be collieshangie when we two get home. Take my word for it, it will need the two of us to make this matter end in peace."

"Aye!" said she. There sprang a patch of red in either of her cheeks. "Was he for fighting you?" said she.

"Well, he was that," said I.

She gave a dreadful kind of laugh. "At all events it is complete!" she cried. And then turning on me: "My father and I are a fine pair," said she, "but I am thanking the good God there will be somebody worse than we are. I am thanking the good God he has let me see you naked. There will never be the girl made that would not scorn you."

I had borne a good deal pretty patiently, but this was over the mark.

"You have no right to speak to me like that," said I. "What have I done but to be good to you, or try to? And here is my repayment! Oh, it is too much!"

She kept looking at me with a hateful smile.

"Coward!" said she.

"The word in your throat and in your father's!" I cried. "I have dared him this day already in your interest. I will dare him again, the nasty polecat. Little I care which of us should fall. Come," said I, "back to the house with us. Let us be done with it. Let me be done with the whole hieland crew of you. You will see what you think when I am dead."

She shook her head at me with that same smile I could have struck her for.

"Oh, smile away!" I cried. "I have seen your bonny father smile on the wrong side this day. Not that I mean he was afraid, of course," I added hastily, "but he preferred the other way of it."

"What is this?" she asked.

"When I offered to chaw with him," said I.

"You offered to chaw upon James More?" she cried.

"And I did so," said I, "and found him backward enough, or how would we be here?"

"There is a meaning upon this," said she. "What is it you are meaning?"

"He was to make you take me," I replied, "and I would not have it. I said you should be free and I must speak with you alone—little I supposed it would be such a speaking! 'And what if I refuse,' says he. 'Then it must come to the throat cutting,' says I, 'for I will no more have a husband forced on that young lady than what I would have a wife forced upon myself.' These were my words; they were a friend's words; bonnily have I been paid for them! Now you have refused me of your own clear free will, and there lives no father in the highlands or out of them that can force on this marriage. I will see that your wishes are respected; I will make the same my business as I have all through. But I think you might have that decency as to affect some gratitude. 'Deed, and I thought you knew me better! I have not behaved quite well to you, but that was weakness. And to think me a coward and such a coward as that! Oh, my lass, there was a stab for the last of it!"

"Davie, how would I guess?" she cried. "Oh, this is a dreadful business! Me and mine"—she gave a kind of wretched cry at the word—"me and mine are not fit to speak to you. Oh, I could be kneeling down to you in the street—I could be kissing your hands for your forgiveness!"

"I will keep the kisses I have got from you already," cried I. "I will keep the ones I wanted and that were something worth; I will not be kissed in penitence."

"What can you be thinking of this miserable girl?" says she.

"What I am trying to tell you all this while," said I, "that you had best leave me alone, whom you can make no more unhappy if you tried, and turn your attention to James More, your father, with whom you are like to have a queer pirn to wind."

"Oh, that I must be going out into the world alone with such a man!" she cried, and seemed to catch herself in with a great effort. "But trouble yourself no more for that," said she. "He does not know what kind of nature is in my heart. He will pay me dear for this day of it—dear, dear will he pay."

She turned and began to go home and I to accompany her, at which she stopped.

"I will be going alone," she said. "It is alone I must be seeing him."

Some little while I raged about the streets and told myself I was the worst used lad in Christendom. Anger choked me. It was all very well for me to breathe deep. It seemed there was not air enough about Leyden to supply me, and I thought I would have burst, like a man at the bottom of the sea. I stopped and laughed at myself at a street corner a minute together, laughing out loud so that a passenger looked at me, which brought me to myself.

"Well," I thought, "I have been a gull and a ninny and a soft Tommy long enough. Time it was done. Here is a good lesson to have nothing to do with that accursed sex that was the ruin of the man in the beginning and will be so to the end. God knows I was happy enough before ever I saw her. God knows I can be happy enough again when I have seen the last of her."

That seemed to me the chief affair—to see them go. I dwelled upon the idea fiercely, and presently slipped on in a kind of malevolence to consider how very poorly they were like to fare when Davie Balfour was no longer by to be their milk cow, at which, to my own very great surprise, the disposition of my mind turned bottom up. I was still angry. I still hated her, and yet I thought I owed it to myself that she should suffer nothing.

This carried me home again at once, where I found the mails drawn out and ready fastened by the door, and the father and daughter with every mark upon them of a recent disagreement. Catriona was like a wooden doll; James More breathed hard, his face was clotted with white spots, and his nose upon one side. As soon as I came in the girl looked at him with a steady, clear, dark look that might very well have been followed by a blow. It was a hint that was more contemptuous than a command, and I was surprised to see James More accept it. It was plain he had had a master talking to, and I could see there must be more of the devil in the girl than I had guessed, and more good humor about the man than I had given him credit of. Or perhaps in him it was rather to be called weakness.

He began at last, calling me Mr. Balfour and plainly speaking from a lesson; but he got not very far, for at the first pompous swell of his voice Catriona cut in,

"I will tell you what James More is meaning," said she. "He means we have come to you, beggarfolk, and have not behaved to you very well, and we are ashamed of our ingratitude and ill behavior. Now we are wanting to go away and be forgotten, and my father will have guided his gear so ill that we cannot even do that unless you will give us some more alms, for that is what we are at all events—beggarfolk and sorners."

"By your leave, Miss Drummond," said I, "I must speak to your father by myself."

She went into her own room and shut the door without a word or look.

"You must excuse her, Mr. Balfour,' says James More. "She has no delicacy."

"I am not here to discuss that with you," said I, "but to be quit of you. Now, Mr. Drummond, I have kept the run of your affairs more closely than you bargained for. I know you had money of your own when you were borrowing mine. I know you have had more since you were here in Leyden, though you concealed it even from your daughter."

"I bid you beware! I will stand no more baiting," he broke out. "I am sick of her and you. What kind of a damned trade is this to be a parent! I have had expressions used to me"— Then he broke off. "Sir, this is the heart of a soldier and a parent," he went on again, laying his hand on his bosom, "outraged in both characters—and I bid you beware."

"If you would have let me finish," says I, "you would have found I spoke to your advantage."

"My dear friend," he cried, "I knew I might have relied upon the generosity of your character."

"Man, will you let me speak?" said I. "The fact is that I cannot win to find out if you are rich or poor. But it is my idea that your means, as they are mysterious in their source, so they are something insufficient in amount, and I do not choose your daughter to be lacking. If I durst speak to herself, you may be certain I would never dream of trusting it to you, because I know you like the back of my hand and all your blustering talk is that much wind to me. However, I believe in your way you do still care something for your daughter after all, and I must just be doing with that ground of confidence, such as it is."

Whereupon I arranged with him that he was to communicate with me as to his whereabouts and Catriona's welfare, in consideration of which I was to serve him a small stipend.

He heard the business out with a great deal of eagerness, and when it was done "My dear fellow! My dear son!" he cried out. "This is more like yourself than any of it yet! I will serve you with a soldier's faithfulness"——

"Let me hear no more of it!" says I. "You have got me to that pitch that the bad name of soldier rises on my stomach. Our traffic is settled. I am now going forth and will return in one-half hour, when I expect to find my chambers purged of you."

I gave them good measure of time. It was my one fear that I might see Catriona again, because tears and weakness were ready in my heart, and I cherished my anger like a piece of dignity. Perhaps an hour went by. The sun had gone down. A little wisp of a new moon was following it across a scarlet sunset. Already there were stars in the east, and in my chambers, when at last I entered them, the night lay blue. I lit a taper and reviewed the room. In the first there remained nothing so much as to awake a memory of those who were gone, but in the second, in one corner of the floor, I spied a little heap that brought my heart into my mouth. She had left behind at her departure all that ever she had of me. It was the blow that I felt sorest, perhaps because it was the last, and I fell upon that pile of clothing and behaved myself more foolish than I care to tell of.

Late in the night, in a strict frost, and my teeth chattering, I came again by some portion of my manhood and considered with myself. The sight of these poor frocks and ribbons and her shifts and the clocked stockings was not to be endured, and if I were to recover any constancy of mind I saw I must be rid of them ere the morning. It was my first thought to have made a fire and burned them, but my disposition has always been opposed to wastery for one thing, and for another to have burned these things that she had worn close upon her body seemed in the nature of a cruelty. There was a corner cupboard in that chamber; there I determined to bestow them. The which I did and made it a long business, folding them with very little skill indeed, but the more care, and sometimes dropping them with my tears.

All the heart was gone out of me; I was weary as though I had run miles and sore like one beaten, when, as I was folding a kerchief that she wore often at her neck, I observed there was a corner neatly cut from it. It was a kerchief of a very pretty hue, on which I had frequently remarked, and once that she had it on I remember telling her by way of a banter that she wore my colors. There came a glow of hope like a tide of sweetness in my bosom, and the next moment I was plunged back in a fresh despair, for there was the corner crumpled in a knot and cast down by itself in another part of the floor.

But when I argued with myself I grew more hopeful. She had cut that corner off in some childish freak that was manifestly tender. That she had cast it away again was little to be wondered at, and I was inclined to dwell more upon the first than upon the second and to be more pleased that she ever had conceived the idea of that keepsake than concerned because she had flung it from her in an hour of natural resentment.

A SKELETON THE TENANT.

Capt. Kelly's Find in a West Coast Cabin—Victoria Sealers and Their Varying Fortune.

An Overdue Mail Carrier—The Islander To Go To Alaska—Premier in Service.

Capt. Foot's little steamer Spinster, in command of Capt. Kelly, which left here on the 3rd inst., returned to port yesterday after a somewhat extensive and monotonous cruise down the West Coast. She brought back four passengers from Nootka Sound, and upwards of 200 valuable furs including sea otter, mink, bear, coon and deer. The furs were all secured from Indians at different points on the coast in trade for clothing, etc, which the little craft carried from here. For eight days after the second day the Spinster was out from Victoria, the weather was very bad, there being continuous gales. On reaching Nootka Sound she took the inside passage to Quatsino, by way of the Tahsis canal and passing through the Narrows and came to where Capt. Devereaux and his party were camping. After a short stay there, the little craft proceeded to Castala Island, but on the way had to put into a small bay for shelter and to get a fresh water supply. In taking a circuit around the bay Capt. Kelly found the place to be a deserted Indian rancherie, and curiosity led him inland to where a little old Indian hut was standing. On opening the door of the hut he saw the skeleton of a man upon the floor. He at once informed the other members of his crew about the matter and an examination of the body was made. It proved to be the skeleton of an Indian, and had apparently been there for upwards of three months. The body was lying close to the fireplace, where the Indian, after wrapping a blanket around him and laying another under his head, had evidently lain down to sleep for ever. Close to the body were found two bottles—one was broken and the other contained diluted whiskey, the contents two-thirds gone. From Castala Island the Spinster proceeded to Kyuquot, and thence to Quatsino. Three schooners were met in Nootka Sound, two of which were Siwash craft and the other the Seattle sealer Frazer, which had run in from a gale, having secured 41 skins during the three previous days. On the homeward trip the Spinster again fell in with W. E. Devereux' surveying party at Nootka Sound, and towed one of their boats down to Friendly Cove, where the latter have their provisions stored. At Nootka, Capt. Foot was told by the chief that an Indian woman and two children had been shot in their canoe by some Indians of the Ahousett tribe. He informed Indian Agent Guillod, at Hesquoit, of the report, but the latter had heard it before, and investigated. The party, as related in the COLONIST, were on their way to Ahousett from Hesquoit, and were capsized and drowned in a heavy sea which overtook them. The same story, with variations to suit the fancy of the narrators, was heard at each of the other Indian settlements where calls were made and where any of the inhabitants remained at home, sealing and salmon fishing now engaging the majority of the native population.

THE MYSTERY RETURNS.

Steamer Mystery returned from Clayoquot yesterday afternoon, where she had learned, through Indians, that the schooner Venture reached Ahouset on Saturday night with 1,000 sealskins, and reported the Triumph with 1,500 and the Sapphire with 1,300. The reason of the Venture's return to Ahouset is said to be her Indian hunters refusing to go any further north. In regard to the story of two Indians murdered on the trail between Euculet and Clayoquot, those on board the Mystery heard nothing, although the native who carries the mail to the latter place had not arrived there up till the steamer left on Sunday afternoon, being three or four days overdue. Those on board the Mystery had also heard at Clayoquot that the sealing schooner San Jose had lost one of her canoes and two Indians.

ONCE MORE AFLOAT.

The steamer Phantom had no difficulty in getting off the beach at Oak Bay on Sunday, having floated at high water. Her captain says he beached her purposely, as the steamer ran out of coal, and while waiting for a fresh supply from Victoria a heavy wind sprang up, which was so strong that her anchors became useless. The Phantom will now prepare to leave for River's Inlet, where she will be engaged during the summer season tending on the canneries.

SEALERS' SUCCESS.

A telegram from Carmanah Point, yesterday, announced that the schooner Sayward passed there on Sunday bound for the home port, and with a cargo of 1,600 sealskins, according to the report of Indian hunters. The Mascot was also reported with 1,700 skins. Strange to say neither schooner was either sighted or spoken by the Spinster or the Mystery.

ORDERS FOR THE ISLANDER.

The steamship Islander, which will be taken off the Vancouver-Victoria run on Sunday, makes her first excursion trip to Alaska next month, leaving here on July 26. It is understood she will make several excursion trips between Victoria and Port Angeles on July 4.

MARINE NOTES.

The C. P. N. Co. will place the steamer Premier on the Victoria-Vancouver route on Friday night. She will leave with an excursion for the Terminal City at 11 o'clock and will return the following evening.

The C.P.R. steamship Empress of Japan left Vancouver at 5 o'clock last evening and was met off the outer wharf, on her arrival, by the steamer Maude. She carried a fair freight and good passenger list.

The steamer Joan has been specially chartered to take the headquarter batteries B.C.B.G.A., with C Battery band, to Vancouvernext Saturday, returning the following morning.

Steamer Lottie has been chartered to go up the Fraser river on some railroad business.

It is expected that the Isabel will make three trips between this city and Angeles on July 1.

The tug Tepic came down from Vancouver on Sunday for a scow load of drain pipes.

The U. S. Coast Survey steamer Gedney was in port yesterday.

The Falcon arrived in from Nanaimo on Sunday with coal.

WOMAN'S WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS.

A Level Headed Editor on Woman's Emotional Displays.

Ladies, read the following extract from an editorial in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Do not fly into a rage and say it is false, but read it carefully and think over it a long time. Then resolve henceforth to sit down on yourselves in the matter of unseemly emotional displays if it costs you your life:

The fact must be acknowledged, lamentable and mortifying as it is, that the women officially engaged in the laudable work of helping to make the World's fair a success are not vindicating the capacity of their sex for that sort of service. They are women of intelligence and patriotism, but they seem to lack the faculty of doing practical things in a practical way. When they encounter a difficulty, they do not rise superior to it, but wring their pretty hands over it and water it copiously with unavailing tears. In other words, they are rattled by every intervening test of their ability to compete with men in the management of public affairs. The country had a right to expect that they would at least labor together in harmony, but the ugly truth is that they do not agree among themselves about anything. They wrangle incessantly and wander from the business in hand to annoy one another with spiteful criticism on the slightest provocation. When their vocabulary of invective is exhausted, a nervous collapse ensues, and they weep their way back to the original point of contention only to find that it is not to be settled according to feminine methods. The energy that they expend in superfluous exertions is sufficient to propel the entire fair if it were only applied in a proper manner, but the pitiful lack of definiteness thwarts their best efforts and throws them back upon their emotions, which is to say that they are left at the mercy of the defects of their qualities, as the philosophers express it. Their emotional equipment, which serves them so well in private life, is found to be a hindrance rather than a help to them in undertakings of a public character.

The editor of The Globe-Democrat is correct. Woman's uncurbed emotional nature plays the demon with her when she would enter on the performance of grave and responsible public duties. The Globe-Democrat calls attention to the fact that while the women of the World's fair management were weeping, scolding, then kissing and embracing one another at a certain famous meeting familiar now to readers of newspapers the men in the background "looked on dry eyed and smiling." It was to them simply an amusing illustration of the childishness of women and of their utter unfitness to transact public business. Shall this sort of thing go on among women to the end of time, or will they stop it?

You can control both your temper and your tears if you have good sense. If you have not, then you cannot.

Mrs. A. Sturdevant is city weigher of Danbury, Conn.

It is interesting from several points of view to observe that the first woman doctor in the state of Virginia is a colored woman.

Take notice of this fact: The first time in generations the government of Spain has had a surplus of money over its expenditures is the present year, and it is under the government of a woman that this has happened. The surplus amounts to about $52,000. The queen during the past year voluntarily cut down her civil list $200,000.

One of the pictures especially honored with official commendation at the French salon this spring was the painting entitled "The Judgment of Paris," by an American girl, Miss Elizabeth Gardner.

Nina Fleming, a Scotch lady who was formerly a schoolteacher in Dundee, is now an assistant in the astronomical observatory at Harvard university. She has already distinguished herself by the discovery of 21 new variable stars, and she has many years of star gazing before her still.

Whatever you do, don't cry. Women have been taught to cultivate their emotions through so many ages that this side of their nature has obtained an abnormal development out of all proportion to their other faculties. It is now time for them to put forward their intellect and let it run the machine awhile.

A case is now before a court in New York state which involves a claim that a well known gentleman succeeded in cheating his mother and two sisters out of $500,000. The foolish women considered that he, being a man, of course understood business better than a woman could do; therefore they let him get the title of their inheritance all in his own name, on the strength of his verbal promise that he would give them their just share. Of course he did not do it, and they are now suing him to get their part of it back. It would serve them right if they never got a cent for being so wickedly lazy and ignorant. Whoso looketh not out for her own, the same shall be cheated out of it every time.

I wonder if it is true that most girl stenographers and typewriters would rather marry than become experts in their business and obtain high wages. I do not believe it.

If the Republican party adopts the woman's rights platform recommended by General Clarkson, then I shall count myself henceforth safe in the Republican fold of my ancestors.

A woman never looks such a fright to herself as when she is going to buy a new bonnet or have a photograph taken.

Katharine Page Perkins has given by will $150,000 to build a dormitory at Harvard college, to be called Perkins hall, in honor of her father and grandfather and brother, graduates of Harvard. In heaven's name, why did not Katharine Page Perkins give that money to the Harvard annex to build a dormitory for the struggling young women students?

Girls, don't quarrel. If I should die next minute and should leave a message to women with my latest breath, it would be, For heaven's sake, don't quarrel!

Sometimes we see on our travels ladies' faces that remind us of the warning sign, "Look on paint."

CABLE NEWS.

Explosion of Molten Metal.

BERLIN, June 26.—A terrible accident occurred to-day in Rohrig's iron works, at Magdeburg, in Saxony. Workmen were engaged in making heavy castings, and were pouring molten metal into the mould. Without a moment's warning the explosion occurred, the liquid iron flying in every direction, covering the workmen. Six men were killed outright, while seven others were so badly burned that their recovery is despaired of. It is believed that the mould was dampened, and that this caused the explosion.

Another Jack the Ripper.

LONDON, June 26.—The foul crimes of Jack the Ripper were again called to mind last night by a murder that was committed in Rotherhithe, a suburb at the southeast of London. The body of a woman belonging to the unfortunate class was found with her throat cut, the wound showing that the knife had been used from left to right as was the case in all the murders committed by the Ripper in Whitechapel. The police were promptly on the scene, having been attracted by screaming, but the murderer had effected his escape, leaving not the slightest clue to his identity. The degraded women of Rotherhithe are panic-stricken by the fate that has befallen one of their number. The body of the dead woman was not mutilated in the disgusting manner that characterized the crimes of "Jack the Ripper," but it is thought the assassin was frightened away by the sound of approaching footsteps before he had time to mutilate the body.

Liberal Elected to Parliament.

LONDON, June 26.—The by-election in Pontefract to-day resulted in the victory of F. Williams Nussey, Liberal, who received 1,191 votes, over Elliot Lees, Conservative, who received 1,159 votes. The vacancy was left by the unseating of Harold James Reckitt, Liberal, for securing his election on February 13, 1893, by bribery at the last general election. Rowland Winn, Conservative, was elected, but a few months afterwards was raised to the peerage. The constituency is very close as is shown by the fact that Mr. Nussey's majority was but 32. In the February by-election Mr. Reckitt's majority was 63, and in the last general election Mr. Winn's majority was but 32. In the February by-election Mr. Reckitt's majority was 63, and in the last general election Mr. Winn's majority was 40. The Conservatives have made heroic efforts to win the constituency to-day, as a Liberal defeat would have been regarded as evidence of a reaction of feeling against the Home Rule bill.

SUDDEN SICKNESS.

A Young Lady Becomes Unconscious on a Tramcar.

About 11 o'clock last night a young lady boarded the James Bay tramcar at Pandora street and asked the conductor to let her off at the corner of Menzies street. When Menzies street was reached the conductor found the lady was quite unconscious. A gentleman who lives in the neighbood was aboard and had her removed to his house. Drs. Holden and Foot, who were called in, brought the patient back to consciousness after several hours work, and she was removed to her home. She is subject to unconscious spells occasionally.

STILL AT LARGE.

No Trace of the Whereabouts of the Escaped Prisoner Fred. Day—the Search Continued.

Dr. Richardson's Statements of the Circumstances of His Leaving the Jubilee Hospital.

Fred. Day, who escaped on Saturday morning from the Jubilee Hospital, where he had been sent by the Provincial jail authorities for treatment, is still at large, so much so indeed that not even a clue has been obtained as to his whereabouts. Some suppose he is still in the city being cared for by friends, but others are equally certain that by this time he is safe on American soil. The search is, however, being continued by the police officers with unabating vigor.

The strangest part of the whole business is that the patient-prisoner should have escaped at all. On Friday afternoon it was known in the city that his wife was arranging to help him out, and the jail officials were so informed, with the result that about 10 o'clock in the evening they went out to the hospital. Between 10 and 11 o'clock Dr. Richardson saw Warden John, and in course of the conversation Dr. Richardson says he expressed the opinion that Day was going to skip. This coincided exactly with what Warden John had heard, but he told Dr. Richardson if the man attempted to leave the ward not to try to prevent him as there would be officers outside to catch him. Two officers from the Provincial jail were then placed on guard outside, at the corner of the ward, across the quadrangle, where they commanded the window of the surgical ward, near where Day's bed was. This was before 11 o'clock, and it was not until 2:30 a.m. that Day escaped. In the meantime his wife had come up to the hospital with the buggy, had gone up to the ward window and talked three-quarters of an hour with her husband, being afterwards taken in custody by Warden John. The guards came away from their positions, and the next thing known was that Day had escaped.

Asked about the matter, yesterday, Dr. Richardson, house surgeon at the hospital, said:

"The Jubilee hospital is not a prison, and we have no means of preventing prisoners sent here for treatment from getting away, although we would do our best to prevent them escaping. I felt sure that man was going to skip, and told Warden John so. He asked me to tell the nurse not to try to prevent his going, as officers outside would arrest him should he make any attempt to leave. This was before 11 o'clock, so that there was at least a period of two to two and a half hours in which they could have gone right into the ward and taken him away. After Mrs. Day was arrested, instead of leaving some one at the window to see that Day did not get out, the officers went around to the front door and rang the bell. As soon as Day heard the bell, he made a break for the window and got out—so the patients in the ward say. He knew well enough they were after him, and he took advantage of their going around to the front door to leave. The hospital authorities cannot have the slightest blame attached to them because of the escape."

Day's wife, who, in spite of curses and blows from him, has stood by him in all his checkered career, was in the Police court yesterday, charged with having assisted her husband to escape. She had nothing to say, and the prosecution not being ready to proceed with the case, it was remanded until July 3.

THE GEARY ACT.

Possible Complications With China—The Treaty Regarded by China as Abrogated.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The announcement made in these dispatches, some time ago, on the authority of the Counsel for the Chinese Government on the Geary law test case before the Supreme Court, that the Chinese Government had informally notified the Government of the United States that the enforcement of the Geary Act would result in a suspension of all relations, diplomatic and commercial, between the United States and China, received strong confirmation in the dispatches brought by the last Pacific mail. At the Chinese Legation, it is learned that the new Chinese Minister will start from Hong Kong this week, and in the ordinary course of travel, is expected to reach Washington by the last of July. Then the Legation will be turned over to him, and the present official will return to China. The new man has had quite an extended experience as a diplomat, having been in charge of some of the important Chinese districts where he came in contact with consuls and government officials from all parts of the world. Although the present Chinese minister has received no information from his Government to the effect that a new treaty with the U. S. will be instituted, still such action is looked upon at the legation as not at all improbable.

Mr. Ho, secretary to Minister Tsui Kwo Yin, said this afternoon that no word had been received here concerning the intentions of the Home Government, or Premier Li Hung Chang, as quoted in dispatches from London this morning, and, further, that he did not imagine there would be any communication upon the subject to the present minister, for the reason that he was preparing to leave the city and was arranging his affairs for his successor Mr. Ho, however, intimated that the Chinese Government looked upon the passage of the Geary Act as a declaration of this Government that this treaty should be considered as abrogated, a position held by the counsel for the Chinese in the case in the Supreme Court in which the validity of the act was tested. If such be the case, Mr. Ho is inclined to believe that, in view of the friendly relations that have always existed, there should be a new treaty. For this reason he does not think it improbable that steps will be taken to negotiate a new convention between the United States and China. At the State department to-day the significant statement attributed to the Chinese viceroy, to the effect that a new treaty must be negotiated between China and the United States to regulate the immigration question caused the suggestion to be made by a State department official that the President could thus, with the aid of the Senate, absolutely nullify the Geary act. There would be no necessity to secure the consent of the House of Representatives.

A treaty has the full power of a statute in the United States and, if of later date, can replace it as the law of the land. The Supreme court has so ruled in a number of cases, but nowhere more clearly and specifically than in the Cherokee tobacco case, reported eleven, Wallace 616, where the court adopt the language of Judge Swayne, as follows: "A treaty may supersede a prior treaty." It was exactly this that happened when the Geary act was passed, for it practically suppressed the most important provisions of the existing treaty, and in the opinion of the State Department officials there is no reason why the act itself should not yield to another treaty if the President and the Senate see fit and can agree upon an instrument satisfactory to themselves and to the government of China.

INDIAN CURRENCY.

Official Correspondence Between the British and Indian Governments.

LONDON, June 26.—A telegram received to-day from Calcutta by the Anglo-Indian banks here states that the Indian Government has stopped the coining of silver for private accounts at the Indian mints. The correspondence between the Government of India and the Indian office has been issued. It opens with a letter from the India Council, under date of March, 1892, urging upon the Home Government to aid in the settlement of the silver question by an international agreement, failing which, not to defer determining upon an Indian policy as, if an international agreement should not be obtained the United States might suddenly stop the coinage of silver, leaving India unprepared. The other communications discuss the fall in rupee value and the fluctuations in the rates of exchange. The Council, in a letter written in June, 1892, advises that if the International Monetary Conference at Brussels fails, and a direct agreement between India and the United States cannot be attained, the mints of India be closed to the free coinage of silver, and a gold standard be introduced.

In a minute Mr. Barbour, financial secretary of India, opposes the stoppage of free coinage until it becomes evident that the United States will not adopt free coinage. Mr. Barbour estimates that the total active circulation in India amounts to 115,000,000 rupees, while a much larger proportion is hoarded. To establish a gold currency with a full legal tender currency composed entirely of gold, it would be necessary to withdraw from circulation 115,000,000 rupees, replacing them with 77,000,000 of sterling gold. He therefore contends that with a gold standard in India a large proportion of the circulation must continue in silver, with silver a legal tender to any amount. If both metals be maintained in circulation, a gold coinage to a total amount of 15,000,000 will suffice. Mr. Long, in a minute to the Council in August, 1892, discusses the adoption of the gold standard, and concludes by suggesting that the ratio of conversion be about one in twenty. In a subsequent telegram from the Earle of Kimberley to the Viceroy of India, dated June 7, 1893, the former announces the recommendations of the Herschell commission as adopted by the council at Simla. In advising the Indian government to exchange gold at the rate of 6d. to the rupee, the commission says that the object is to guard against a sudden considerable rise in exchange. Hereafter the ratio ought to be raised if circumstances make it advisable.

TELEGRAPH CONSTRUCTION.

Progress Making by the C. P. R. Co. on the Mainland.

VANCOUVER, June 26.—J. Wilson, superintendent of the Pacific Division of the C. P. R. telegraph, returned from Revelstoke to-day. He says that gangs of men will start on the new telegraph line on 1st July simultaneously from Kaslo and Silverton, at Kaslo working towards Silverton, and Silverton working towards Revelstoke. The stations between Kaslo and Silverton will be at Three Forks and New Denver. It has not been decided whether a cable will be laid under the N. W. Arm of Upper Arrow lake or around the Arm, which is very rocky. Mr. Wilson reports that New Denver and Silverton are quite lively, and a good deal of building going on. At Kaslo new sample works were in progress capable of handling 100 tons a day.

IN A RECEIVER'S HANDS.

The Seattle Lake Shore and Western Railway Not to Be Run by the Northern Pacific.

SEATTLE, June 27.—Judge Hanford to-day placed the Seattle, Lake Shore and Eastern railway in the hands of a receiver. Thomas Reeves Brown was appointed. The receivership was granted on petition of Thomas Earle and Angus Mackintosh, stockholders of the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern R'y Co. against the corporation as trustees and the Northern Pacific R'y Co., to enjoin the further operation of the first named corporation's railways by the latter under a traffic contract, for the appointment of a receiver and an accounting as to the dealing of said corporations with each other. The court holds that the traffic contract was illegal. The road has been operated by the Northern Pacific for about two years.

Money for the Pacific Coast.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Telegraphic transfers of $120,000 to San Francisco were made through the sub-Treasury to-day. After the close of business, application was received for a transfer of $25,000. In addition $250,000 in currency was sent by registered letter and express to the Pacific Coast.

TO THE

FAMOUS LARDEAU AND FISH CREEK MINES,

IS BY

LARDEAU

N. E. ARM OF UPPER ARROW LAKE.

THE Columbia River steamers from the C. P. R. or N. P. R. lines will land prospectors or investors at Lardeau, where First-Class Hotels and Supply Stores are situated. Pack trains run from this point, and saddle horses can be procured. The distance from Lardeau to Trout Lake is from twelve to fourteen miles. The distance to Trout Lake over a poor trail from the nearest point on Kootenay Lake is over sixty miles. The advantage is obvious. Lardeau is also the Headquarters and Entrance point to the Fish Creek Mines. A glance at the map of Kootenay will show that the above statements are correct.
